The Crusader

Save this page for Bob.

To My Princess,

Roses are red + violets are blue
Please remember sweetheart I love you
And when the chips are down + your looking blue
Remember — Bob Loves you

To the girl I call princess who just deserve
That I'm gonna marry someday + make her mine.
To the girl who can help me when I'm in a mood
No matter how ugly, bad or rude.

In these days I'll remember, honey, and cherish those all.

That my little Princess and I'm in love with me
Lord.

Honey I could express myself honey, and do what I think.

I'd buy you the whole wide world wrapped up in a ribbon.

I'll better end this poem now and really make it snappy.

But as long as you stay like you are my Princess
I'll always be happy.

T.S.

FOREWORD

The Bells of St. Mary's, Ah! hear they are calling. . .

Since time immemorial bells have been symbolic of the prelude to a new activity: the onset of a great victory, the advancing of a new era, the establishment of a different way of life, or even the foundation of Liberty.

So too, at St. Mary's the bells have been emblematic of a beginning: the instigation of a new relationship, the introduction to a world of Knowledge, the advancement towards a more spiritual way of life.

The church bells, which have daily beckoned us to Holy Mass and the sanctuary bells, which have inspired us to "raise our minds and hearts to God," have instilled within us a deep and firm foundation of faith and love of our religion.

The school bells, calling us to numberless activities and assemblies, have served to introduce us to a new concept and to strike up new acquaintances.

Even the lowly fire bells, which we have all too often welcomed with grimaces, have taught their valuable lessons of promptness and obedience.

And so it is that bells, which have constituted so vital a part in our lives, have become representative of the principles and philosophy that we have acquired within the corridors of St. Mary's. The sound of the bells has ever inspired in the hearts of the students a love for and loyalty to their Alma Mater.

Thus the Class of '60 have selected as the theme for this, the initial presentation of the Crusader, an episode from their daily lives which will always remain with them, the ringing of the Bells of St. Mary's.

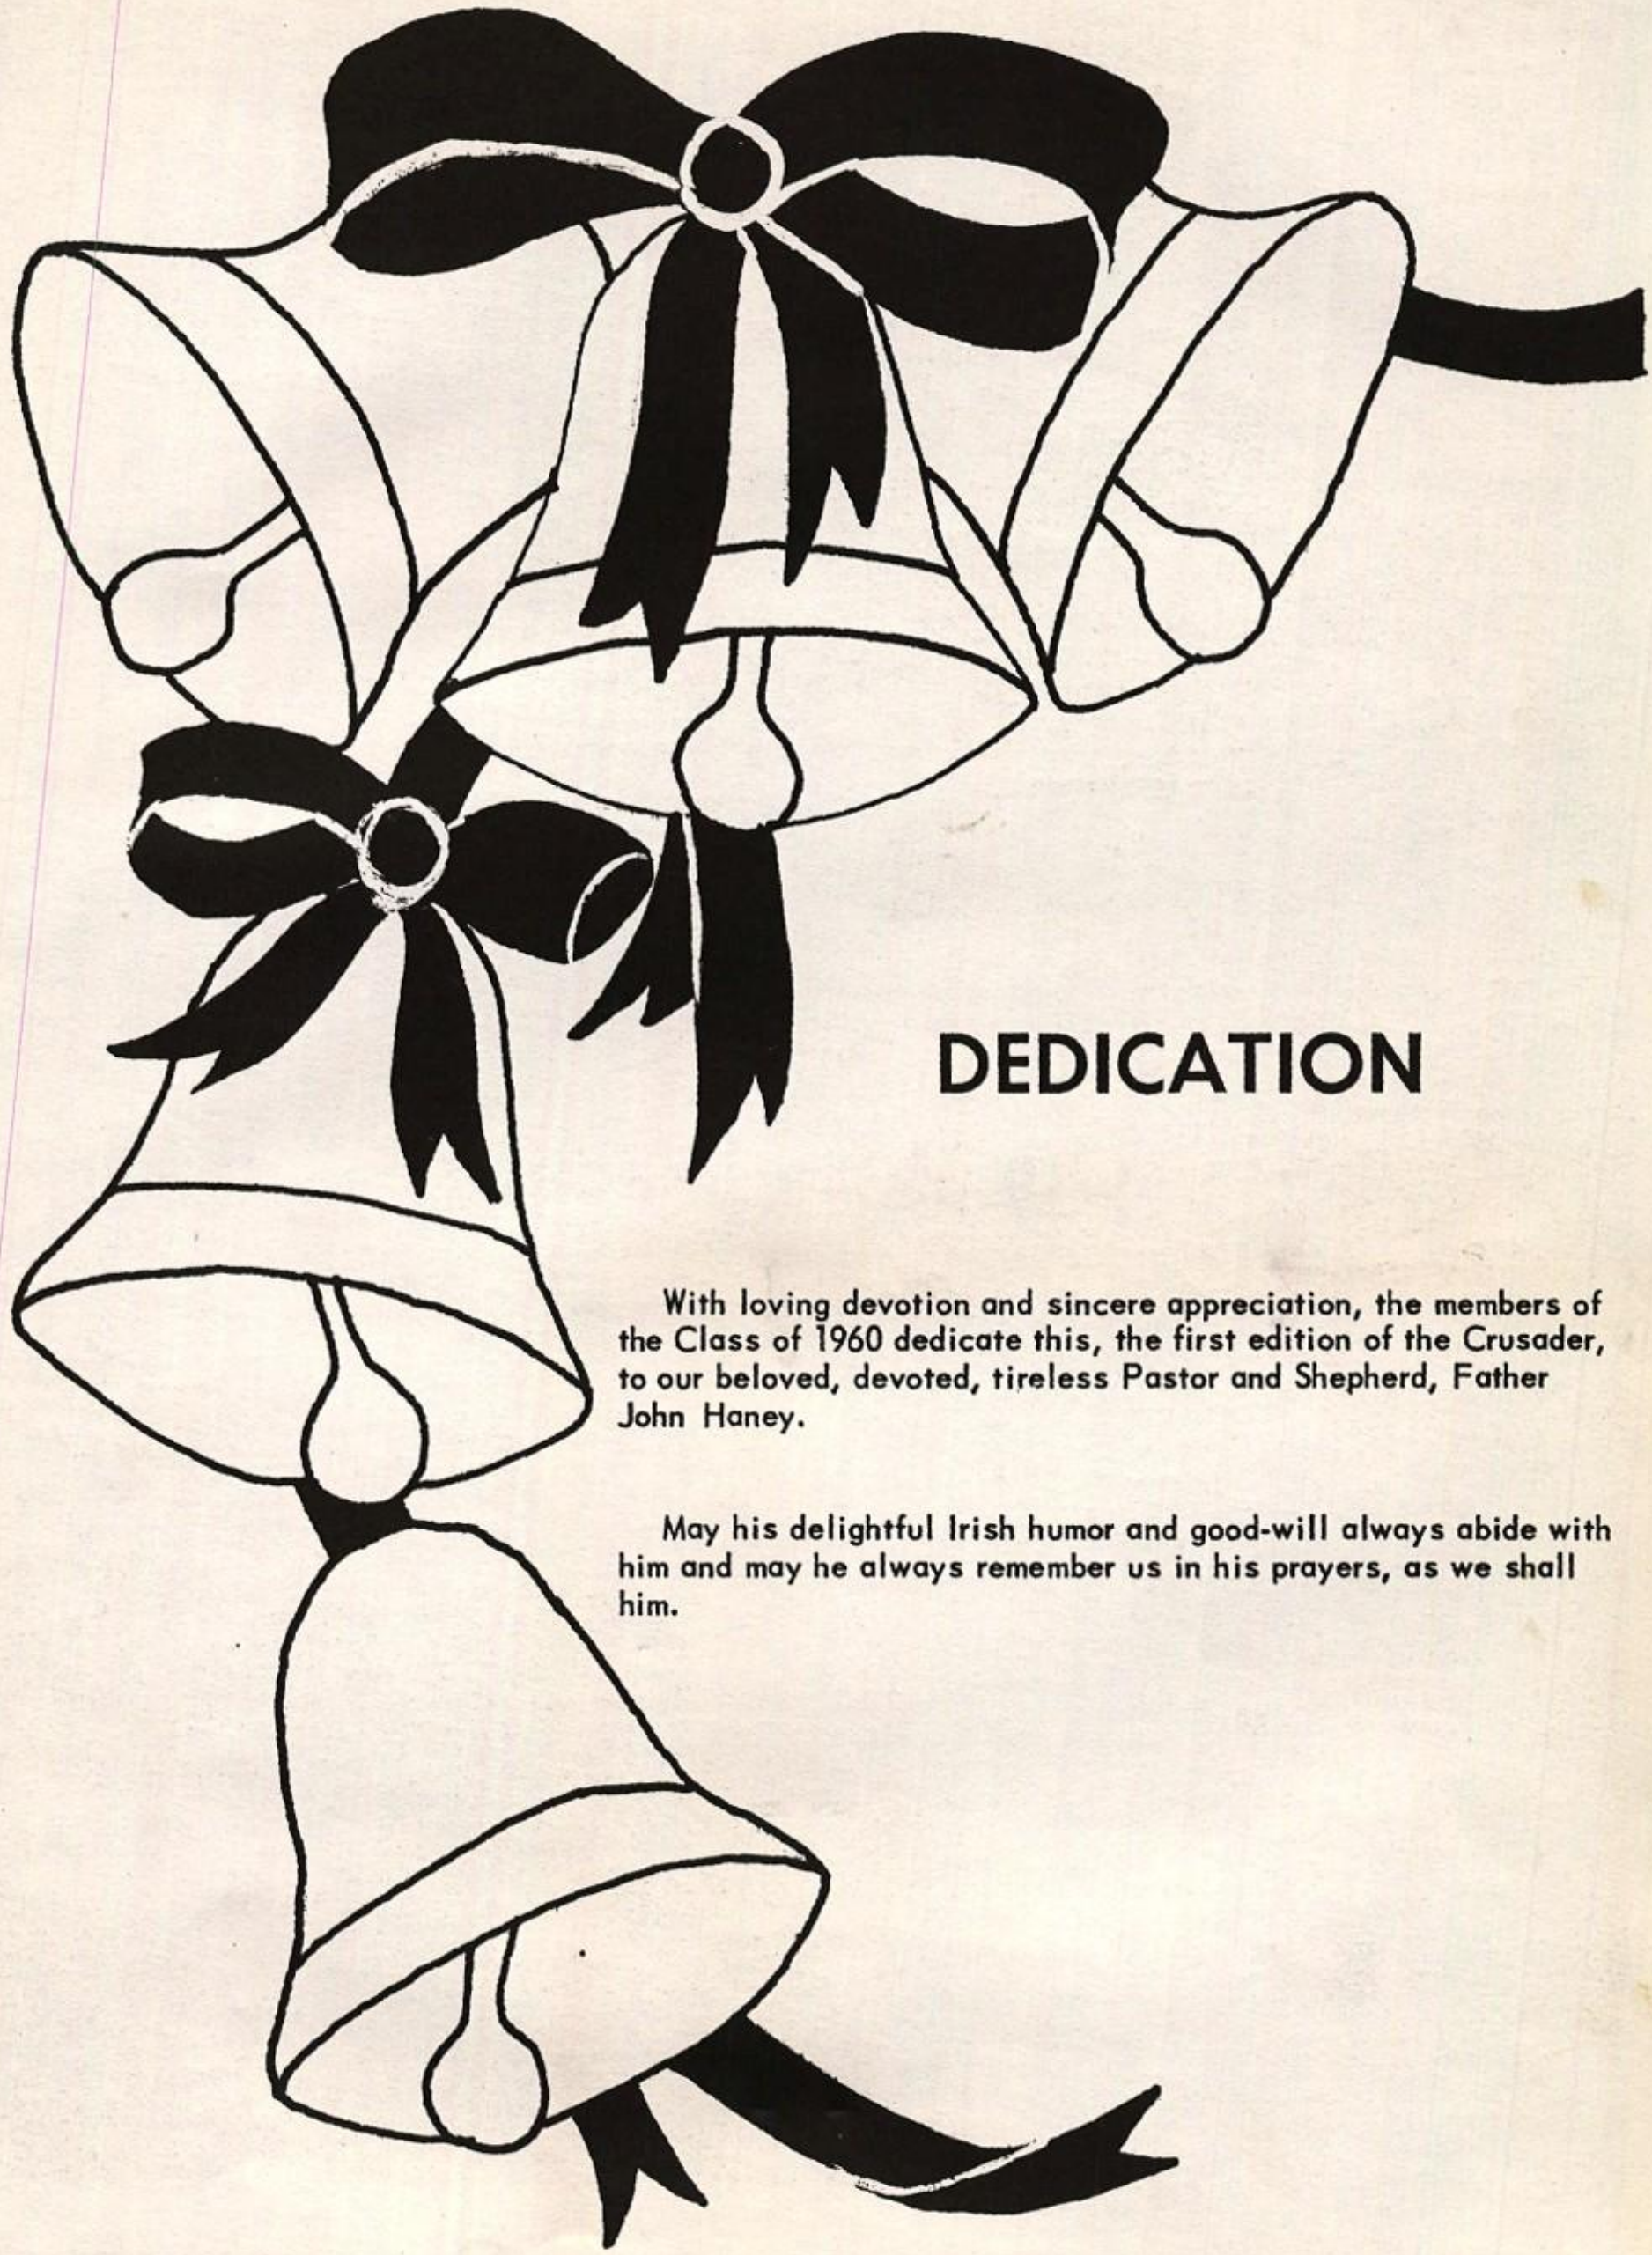
HIS EXCELLENCY, ARCHBISHOP JOHN FRANCIS DEARDEN



DEDICATION

With loving devotion and sincere appreciation, the members of the Class of 1960 dedicate this, the first edition of the Crusader, to our beloved, devoted, tireless Pastor and Shepherd, Father John Haney.

May his delightful Irish humor and good-will always abide with him and may he always remember us in his prayers, as we shall him.

Father Haney glances up from his pastoral duties long enough to give a friendly smile to his children.

Our Wise Leaders.

Our assistant pastors (left) Father Robert Fehribach and (right) Father Henry Kreft, confer on some of the many problems of the school and parish.

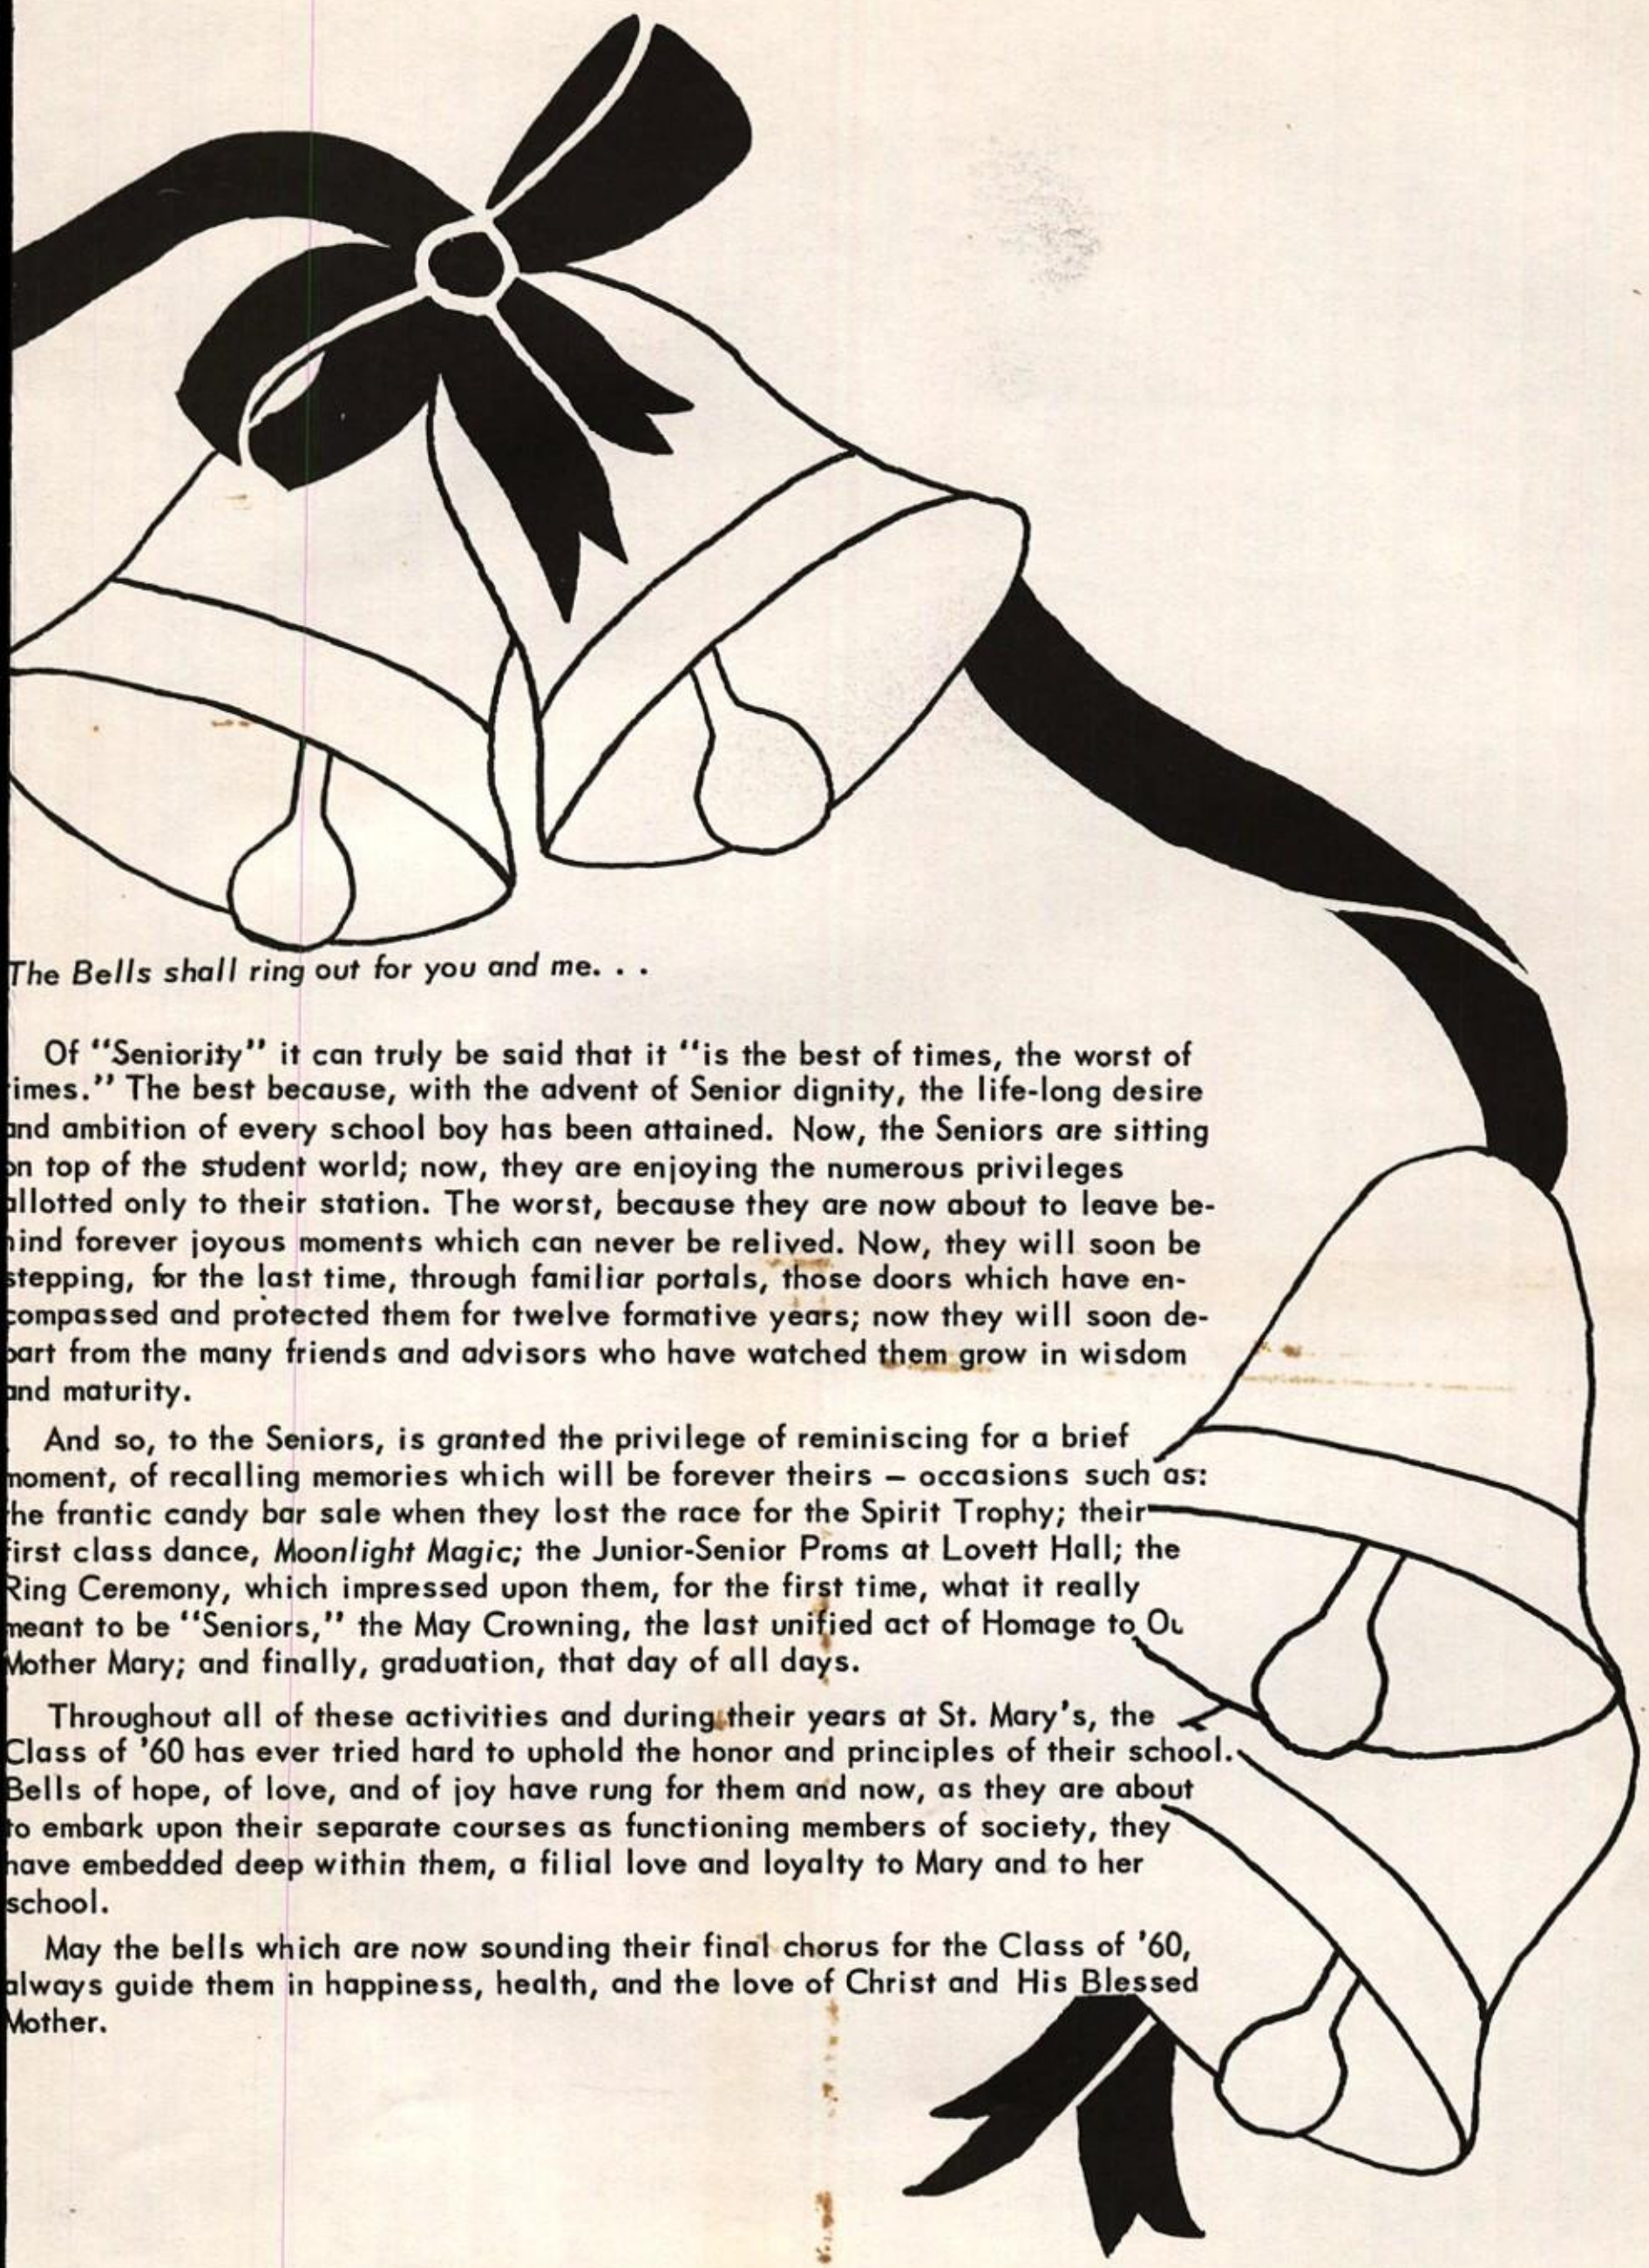
SENIORS

Junior Senior
Prom. May 11, 1960.
←Bob + Me.



The Bells shall ring out for you and me. . .

Of "Seniority" it can truly be said that it "is the best of times, the worst of times." The best because, with the advent of Senior dignity, the life-long desire and ambition of every school boy has been attained. Now, the Seniors are sitting on top of the student world; now, they are enjoying the numerous privileges allotted only to their station. The worst, because they are now about to leave behind forever joyous moments which can never be relived. Now, they will soon be stepping, for the last time, through familiar portals, those doors which have encompassed and protected them for twelve formative years; now they will soon depart from the many friends and advisors who have watched them grow in wisdom and maturity.

And so, to the Seniors, is granted the privilege of reminiscing for a brief moment, of recalling memories which will be forever theirs – occasions such as: the frantic candy bar sale when they lost the race for the Spirit Trophy; their first class dance, Moonlight Magic; the Junior-Senior Proms at Lovett Hall; the Ring Ceremony, which impressed upon them, for the first time, what it really meant to be "Seniors," the May Crowning, the last unified act of Homage to Our Mother Mary; and finally, graduation, that day of all days.

Throughout all of these activities and during their years at St. Mary's, the Class of '60 has ever tried hard to uphold the honor and principles of their school. Bells of hope, of love, and of joy have rung for them and now, as they are about to embark upon their separate courses as functioning members of society, they have embedded deep within them, a filial love and loyalty to Mary and to her school.

May the bells which are now sounding their final chorus for the Class of '60, always guide them in happiness, health, and the love of Christ and His Blessed Mother.

IN MEMORIAM

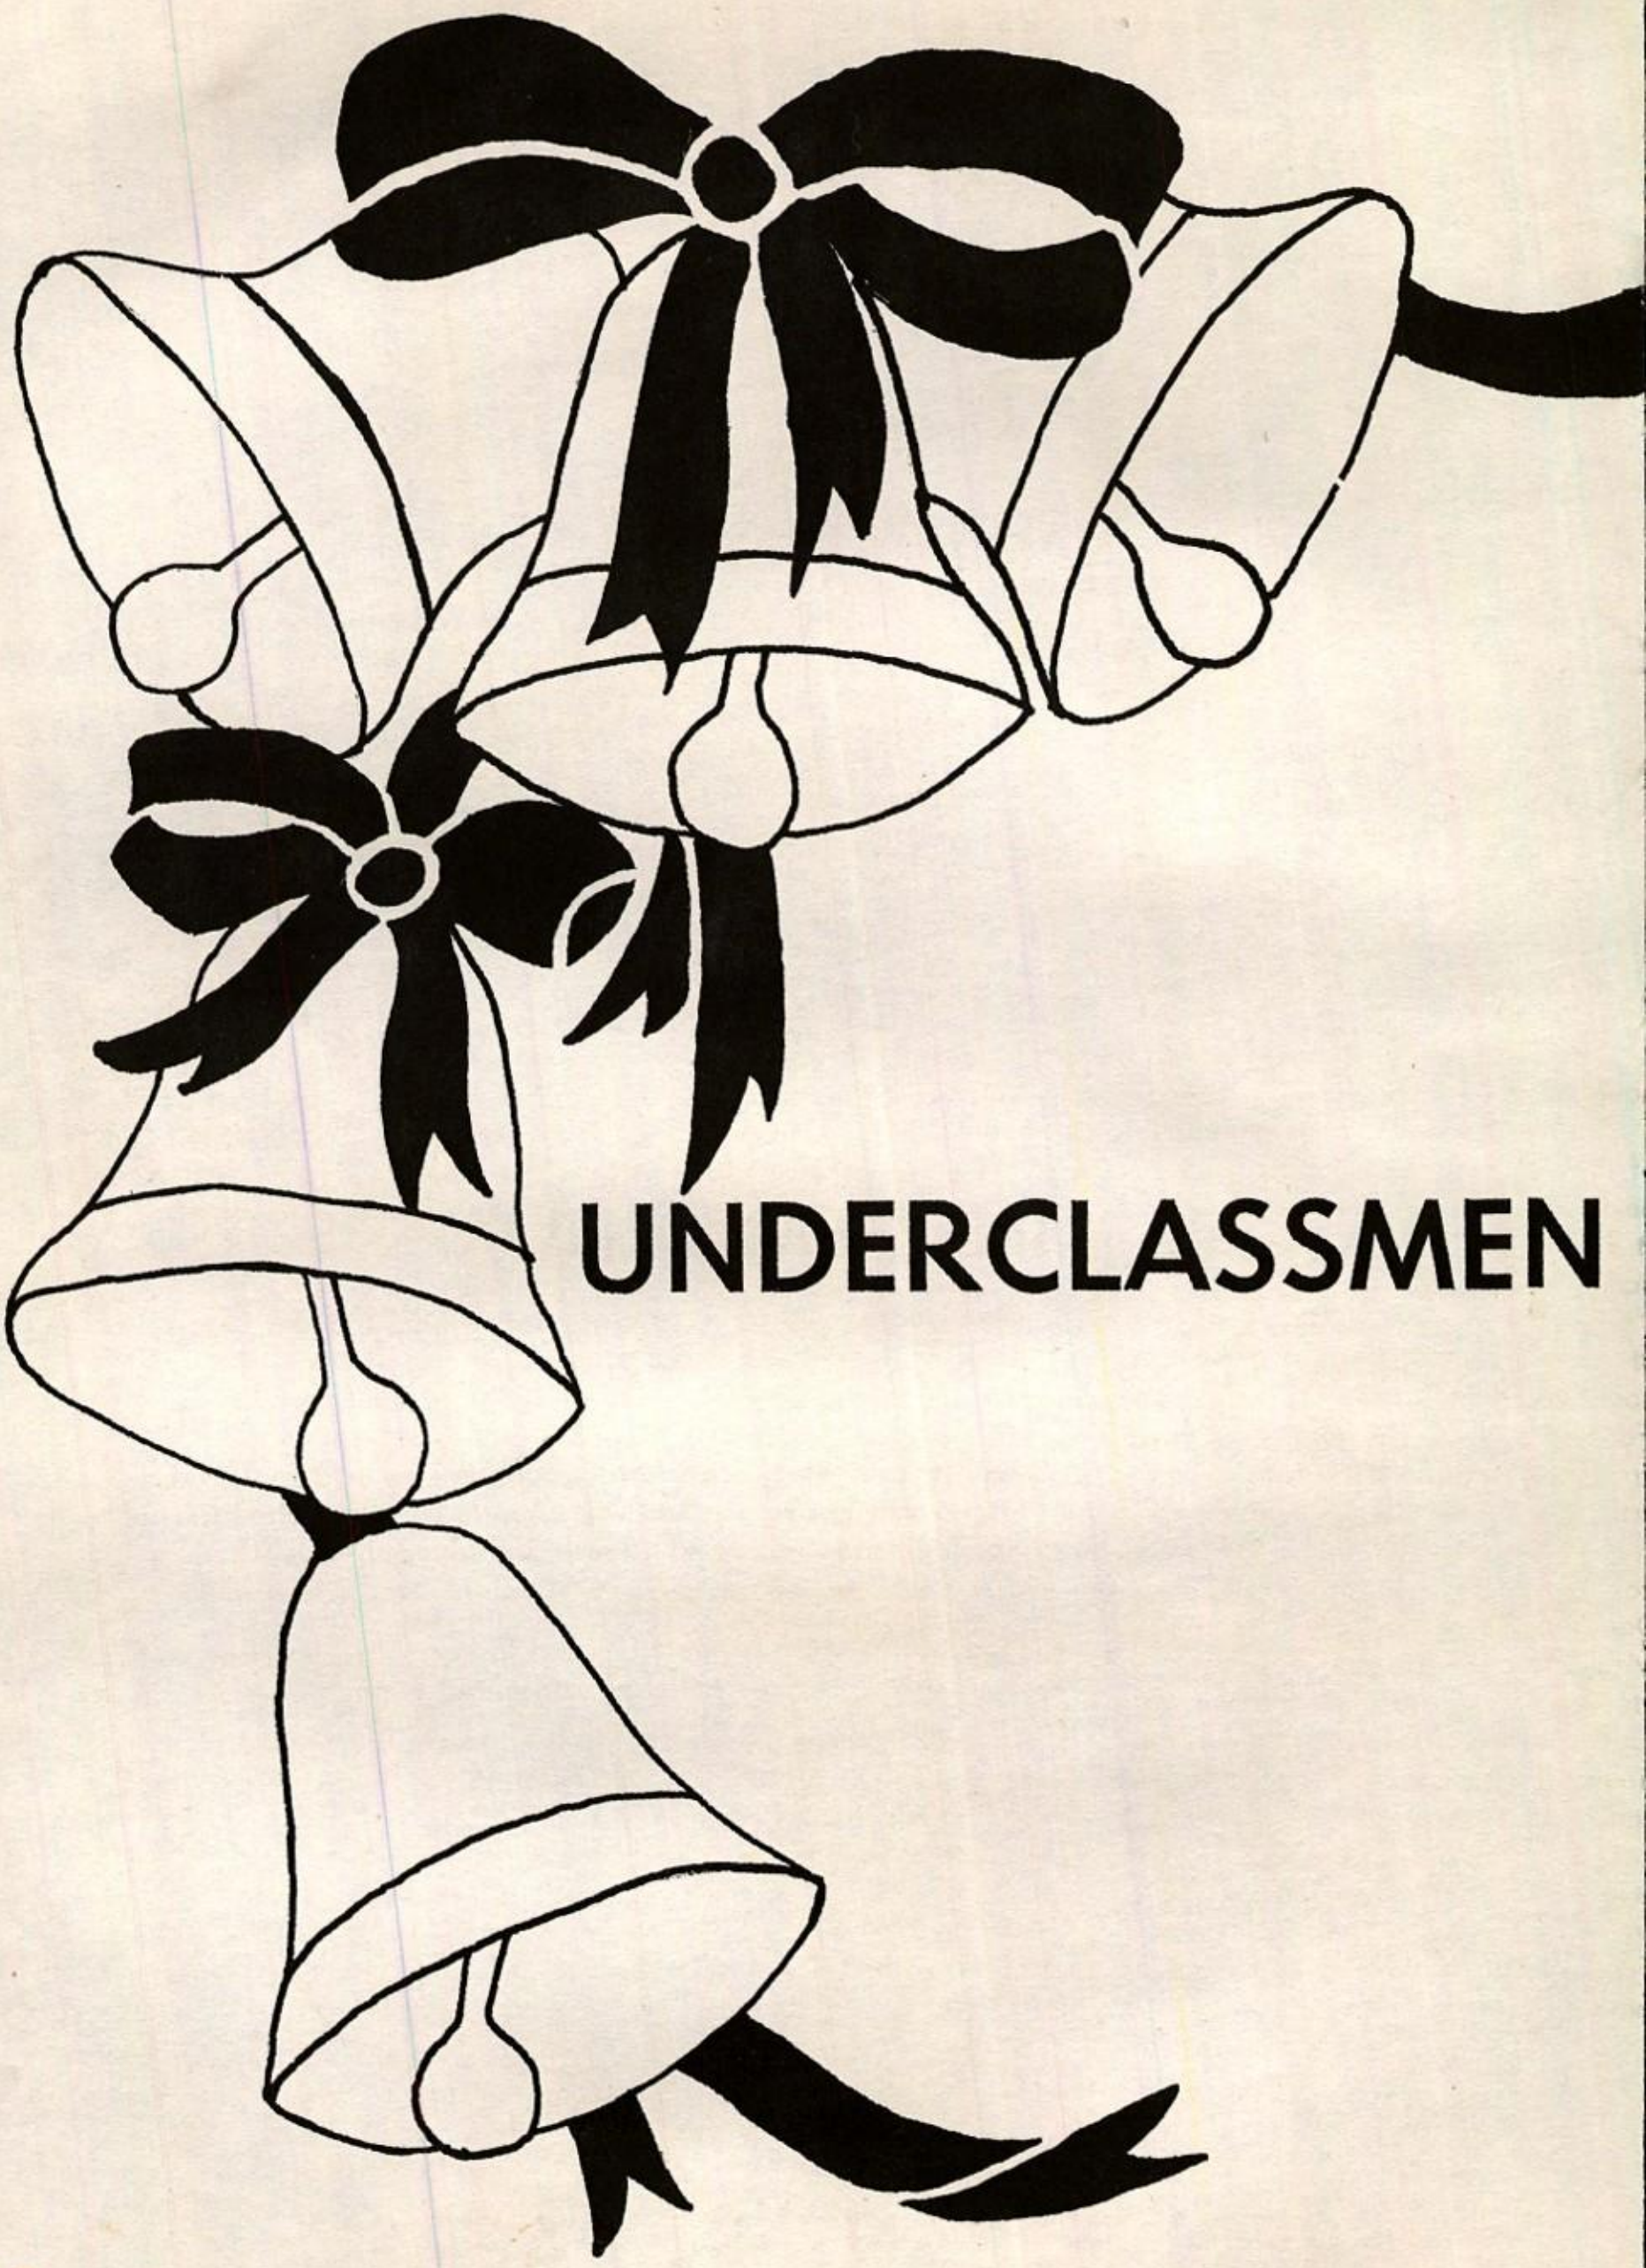
Robert Durand

Likeable, congenial, wonderful young men, – that is how Edward Martin and Robert Durand will always be remembered in the hearts of their classmates who knew and loved them well.

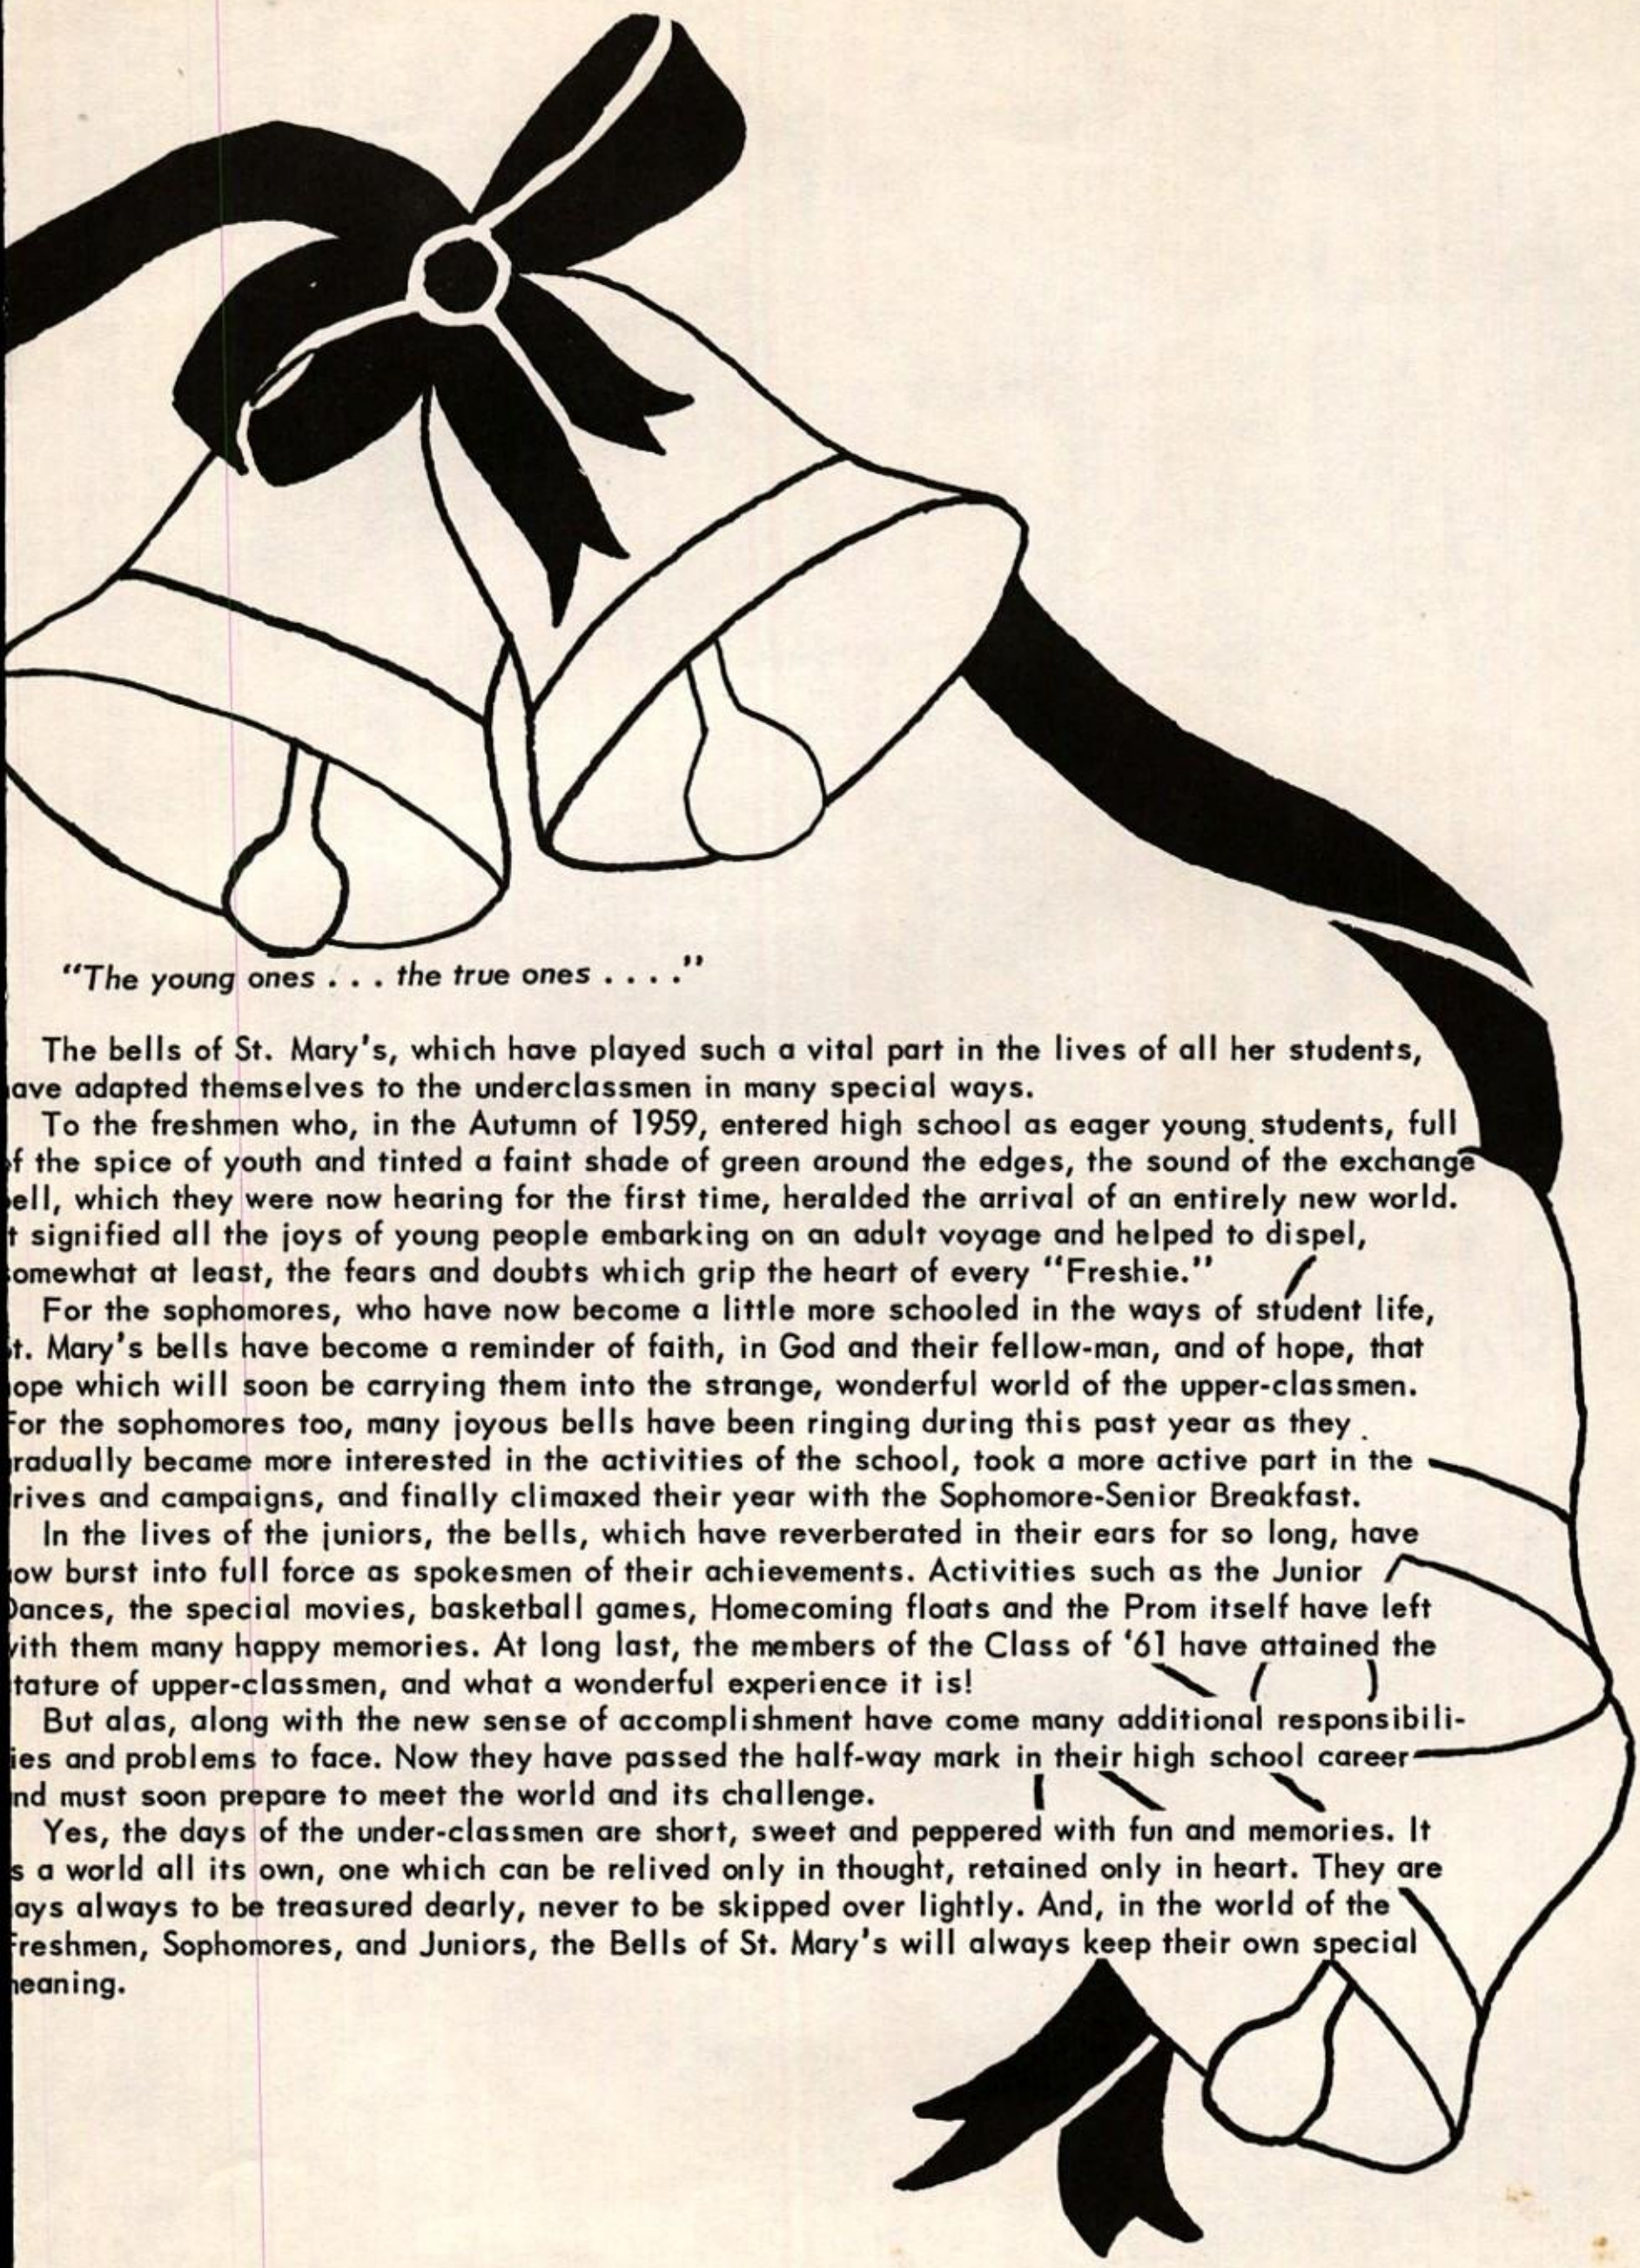
Although they went to their Eternal Maker so young, Bob and Eddie will always be remembered as special friends because, in spirit, we have had them always with us.

Edward Martin

REQUIESCANT IN PACE



UNDERCLASSMEN



"The young ones . . . the true ones . . . ."

The bells of St. Mary's, which have played such a vital part in the lives of all her students, ave adapted themselves to the underclassmen in many special ways.

To the freshmen who, in the Autumn of 1959, entered high school as eager young students, full f the spice of youth and tinted a faint shade of green around the edges, the sound of the exchange ell, which they were now hearing for the first time, heralded the arrival of an entirely new world. t signified all the joys of young people embarking on an adult voyage and helped to dispel, omewhat at least, the fears and doubts which grip the heart of every "Freshie."

For the sophomores, who have now become a little more schooled in the ways of student life, t. Mary's bells have become a reminder of faith, in God and their fellow-man, and of hope, that ope which will soon be carrying them into the strange, wonderful world of the upper-classmen. For the sophomores too, many joyous bells have been ringing during this past year as they radually became more interested in the activities of the school, took a more active part in the rives and campaigns, and finally climaxed their year with the Sophomore-Senior Breakfast.

In the lives of the juniors, the bells, which have reverberated in their ears for so long, have ow burst into full force as spokesmen of their achievements. Activities such as the Junior ances, the special movies, basketball games, Homecoming floats and the Prom itself have left ith them many happy memories. At long last, the members of the Class of '61 have attained the tature of upper-classmen, and what a wonderful experience it is!

But alas, along with the new sense of accomplishment have come many additional responsibili- ies and problems to face. Now they have passed the half-way mark in their high school career nd must soon prepare to meet the world and its challenge.

Yes, the days of the under-classmen are short, sweet and peppered with fun and memories. It s a world all its own, one which can be relived only in thought, retained only in heart. They are ays always to be treasured dearly, never to be skipped over lightly. And, in the world of the reshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors, the Bells of St. Mary's will always keep their own special eaning.

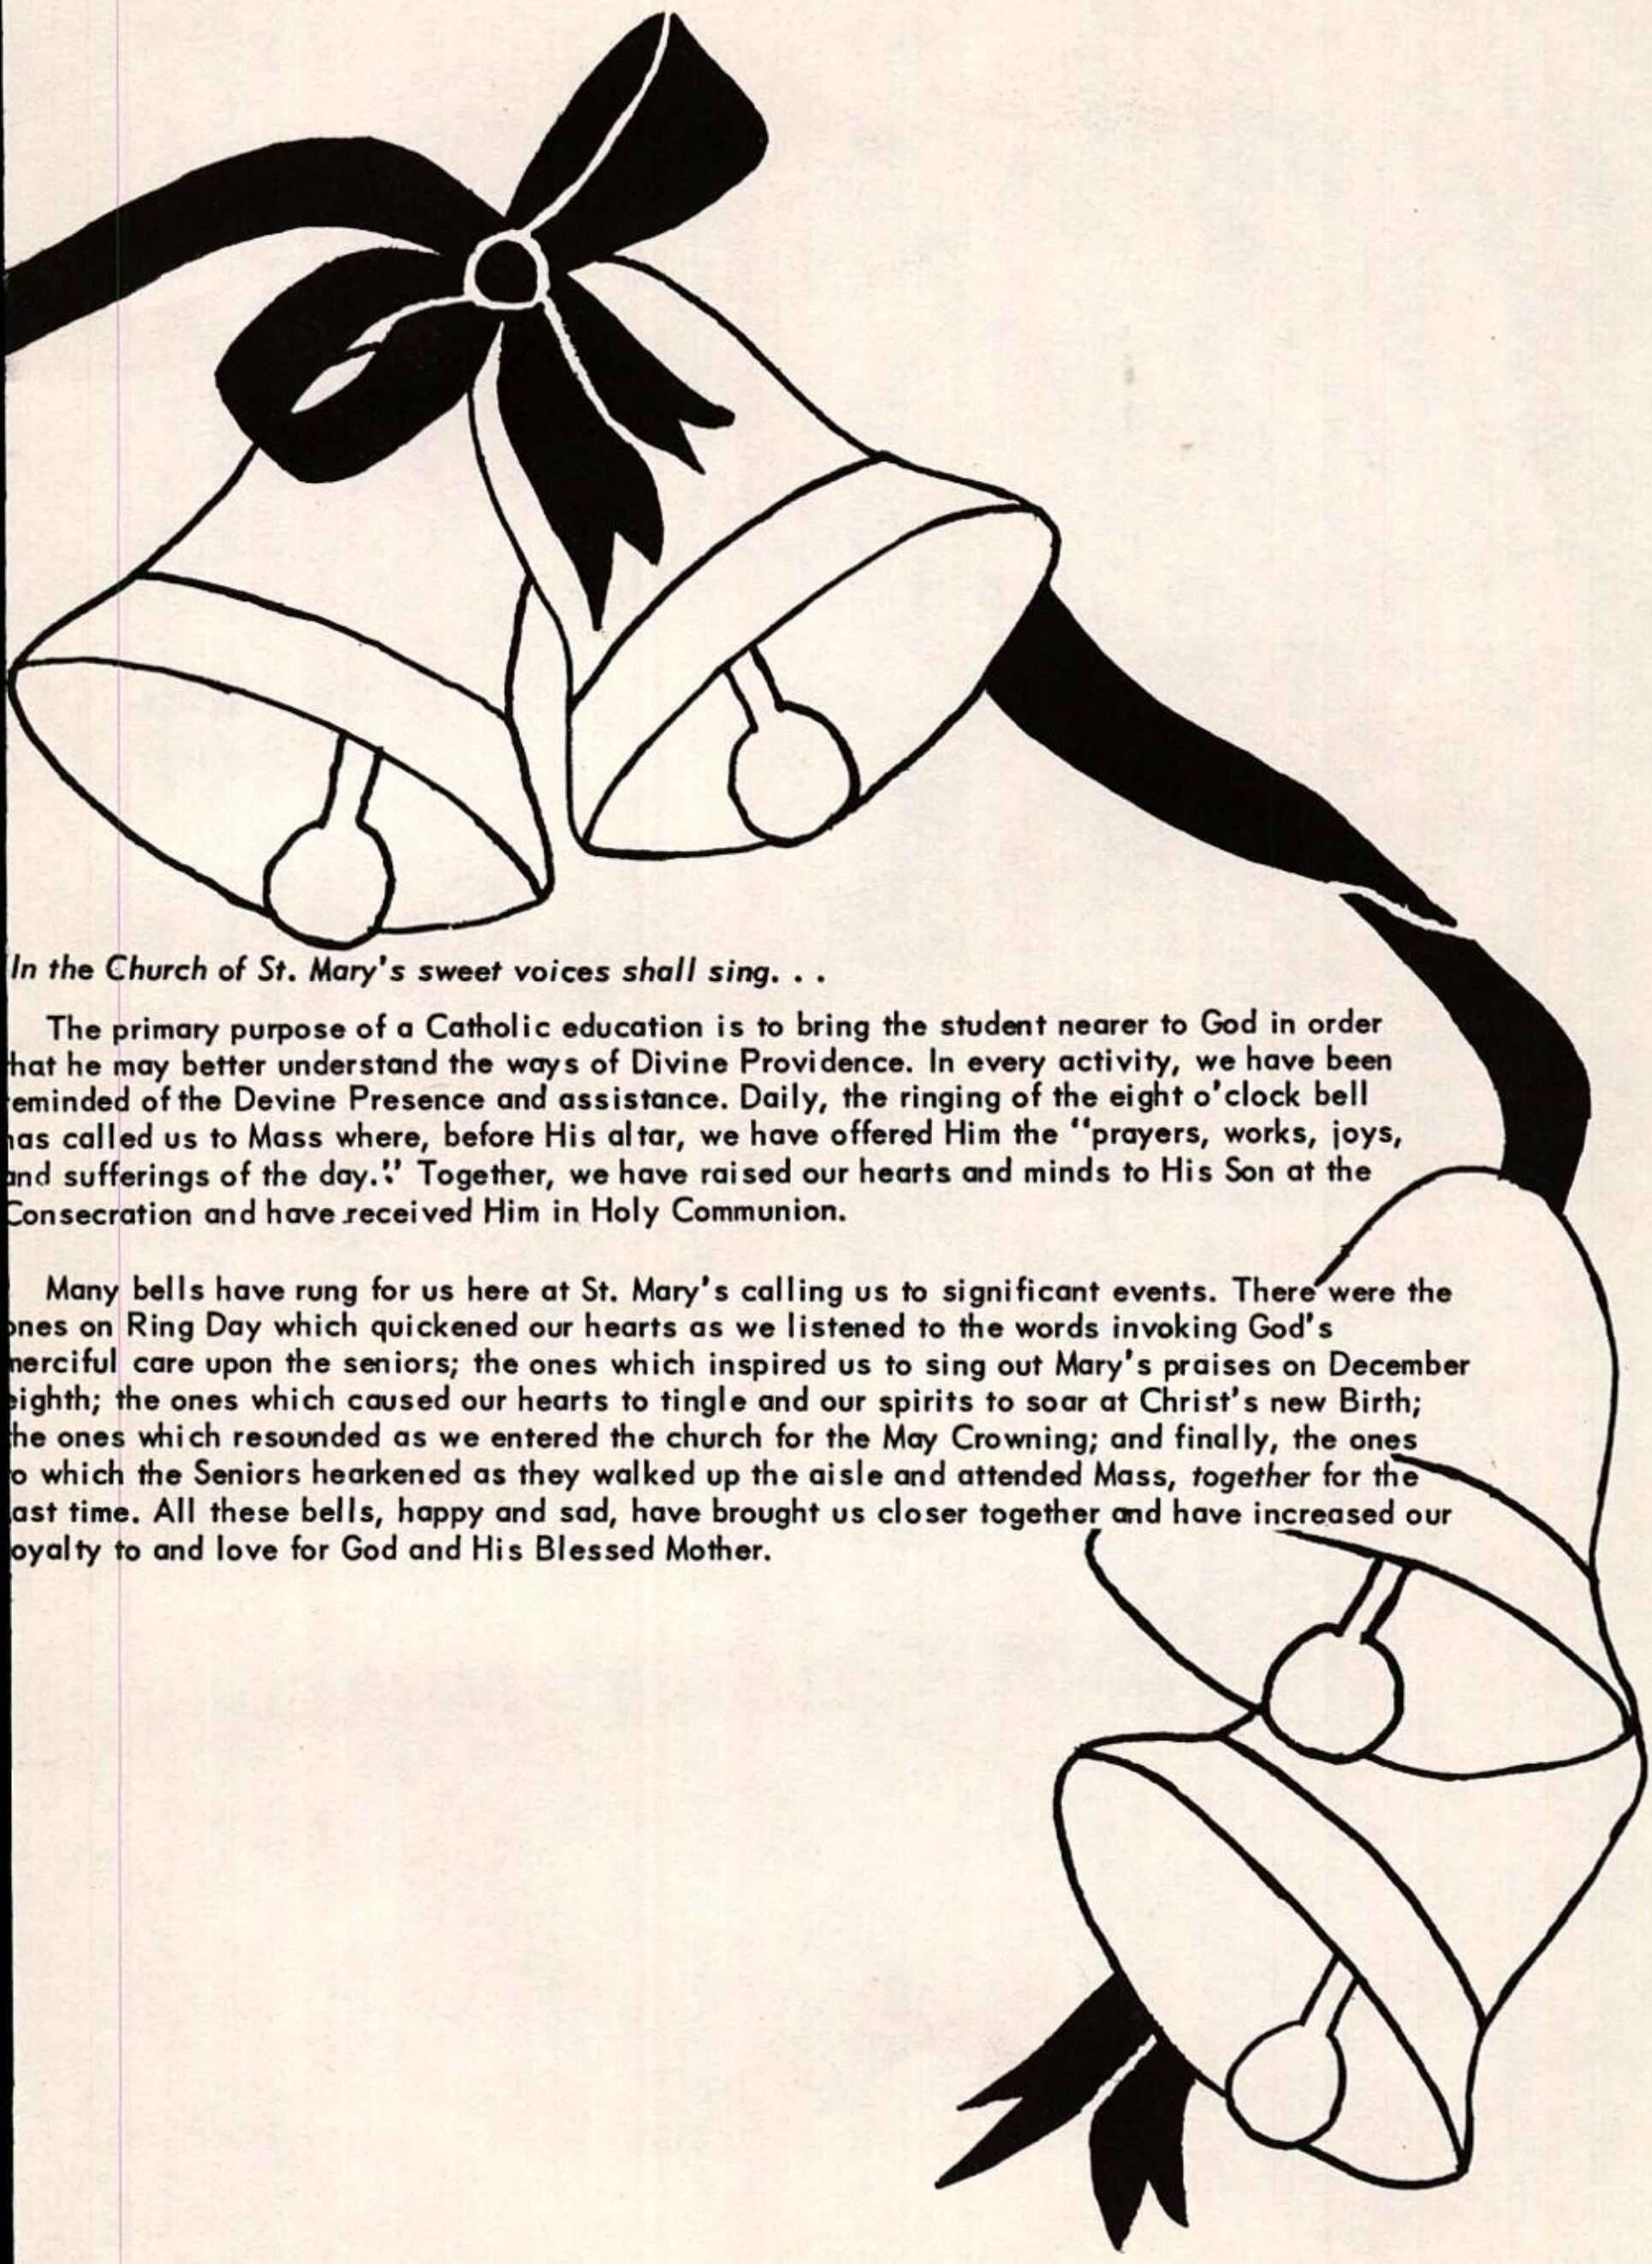
RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES



In the Church of St. Mary's sweet voices shall sing. . .

The primary purpose of a Catholic education is to bring the student nearer to God in order hat he may better understand the ways of Divine Providence. In every activity, we have been eminded of the Devine Presence and assistance. Daily, the ringing of the eight o'clock bell as called us to Mass where, before His altar, we have offered Him the "prayers, works, joys, nd sufferings of the day." Together, we have raised our hearts and minds to His Son at the Consecration and have received Him in Holy Communion.

Many bells have rung for us here at St. Mary's calling us to significant events. There were the nes on Ring Day which quickened our hearts as we listened to the words invoking God's erciful care upon the seniors; the ones which inspired us to sing out Mary's praises on December ighth; the ones which caused our hearts to tingle and our spirits to soar at Christ's new Birth; he ones which resounded as we entered the church for the May Crowning; and finally, the ones o which the Seniors hearkened as they walked up the aisle and attended Mass, together for the ast time. All these bells, happy and sad, have brought us closer together and have increased our oyalty to and love for God and His Blessed Mother.

Father Haney smiled as he presented Al O'Brien with his class ring.

The Class of '60

Become Seniors

Tuesday, October 6, marked another "first" among the accomplishments of the Class of 1960. On that day, in St. Mary's first solemn ring ceremony, the Seniors received their class rings. Father Haney blessed the rings and distributed them to the Seniors. He was assisted by Junior President, James Blanchard. It was a day that will be long remembered by the Class of '60, since it marked their first "official" recognition as Seniors.

Joanne Curzytek received her ring from Father Haney while Jim Blanchard looked on.

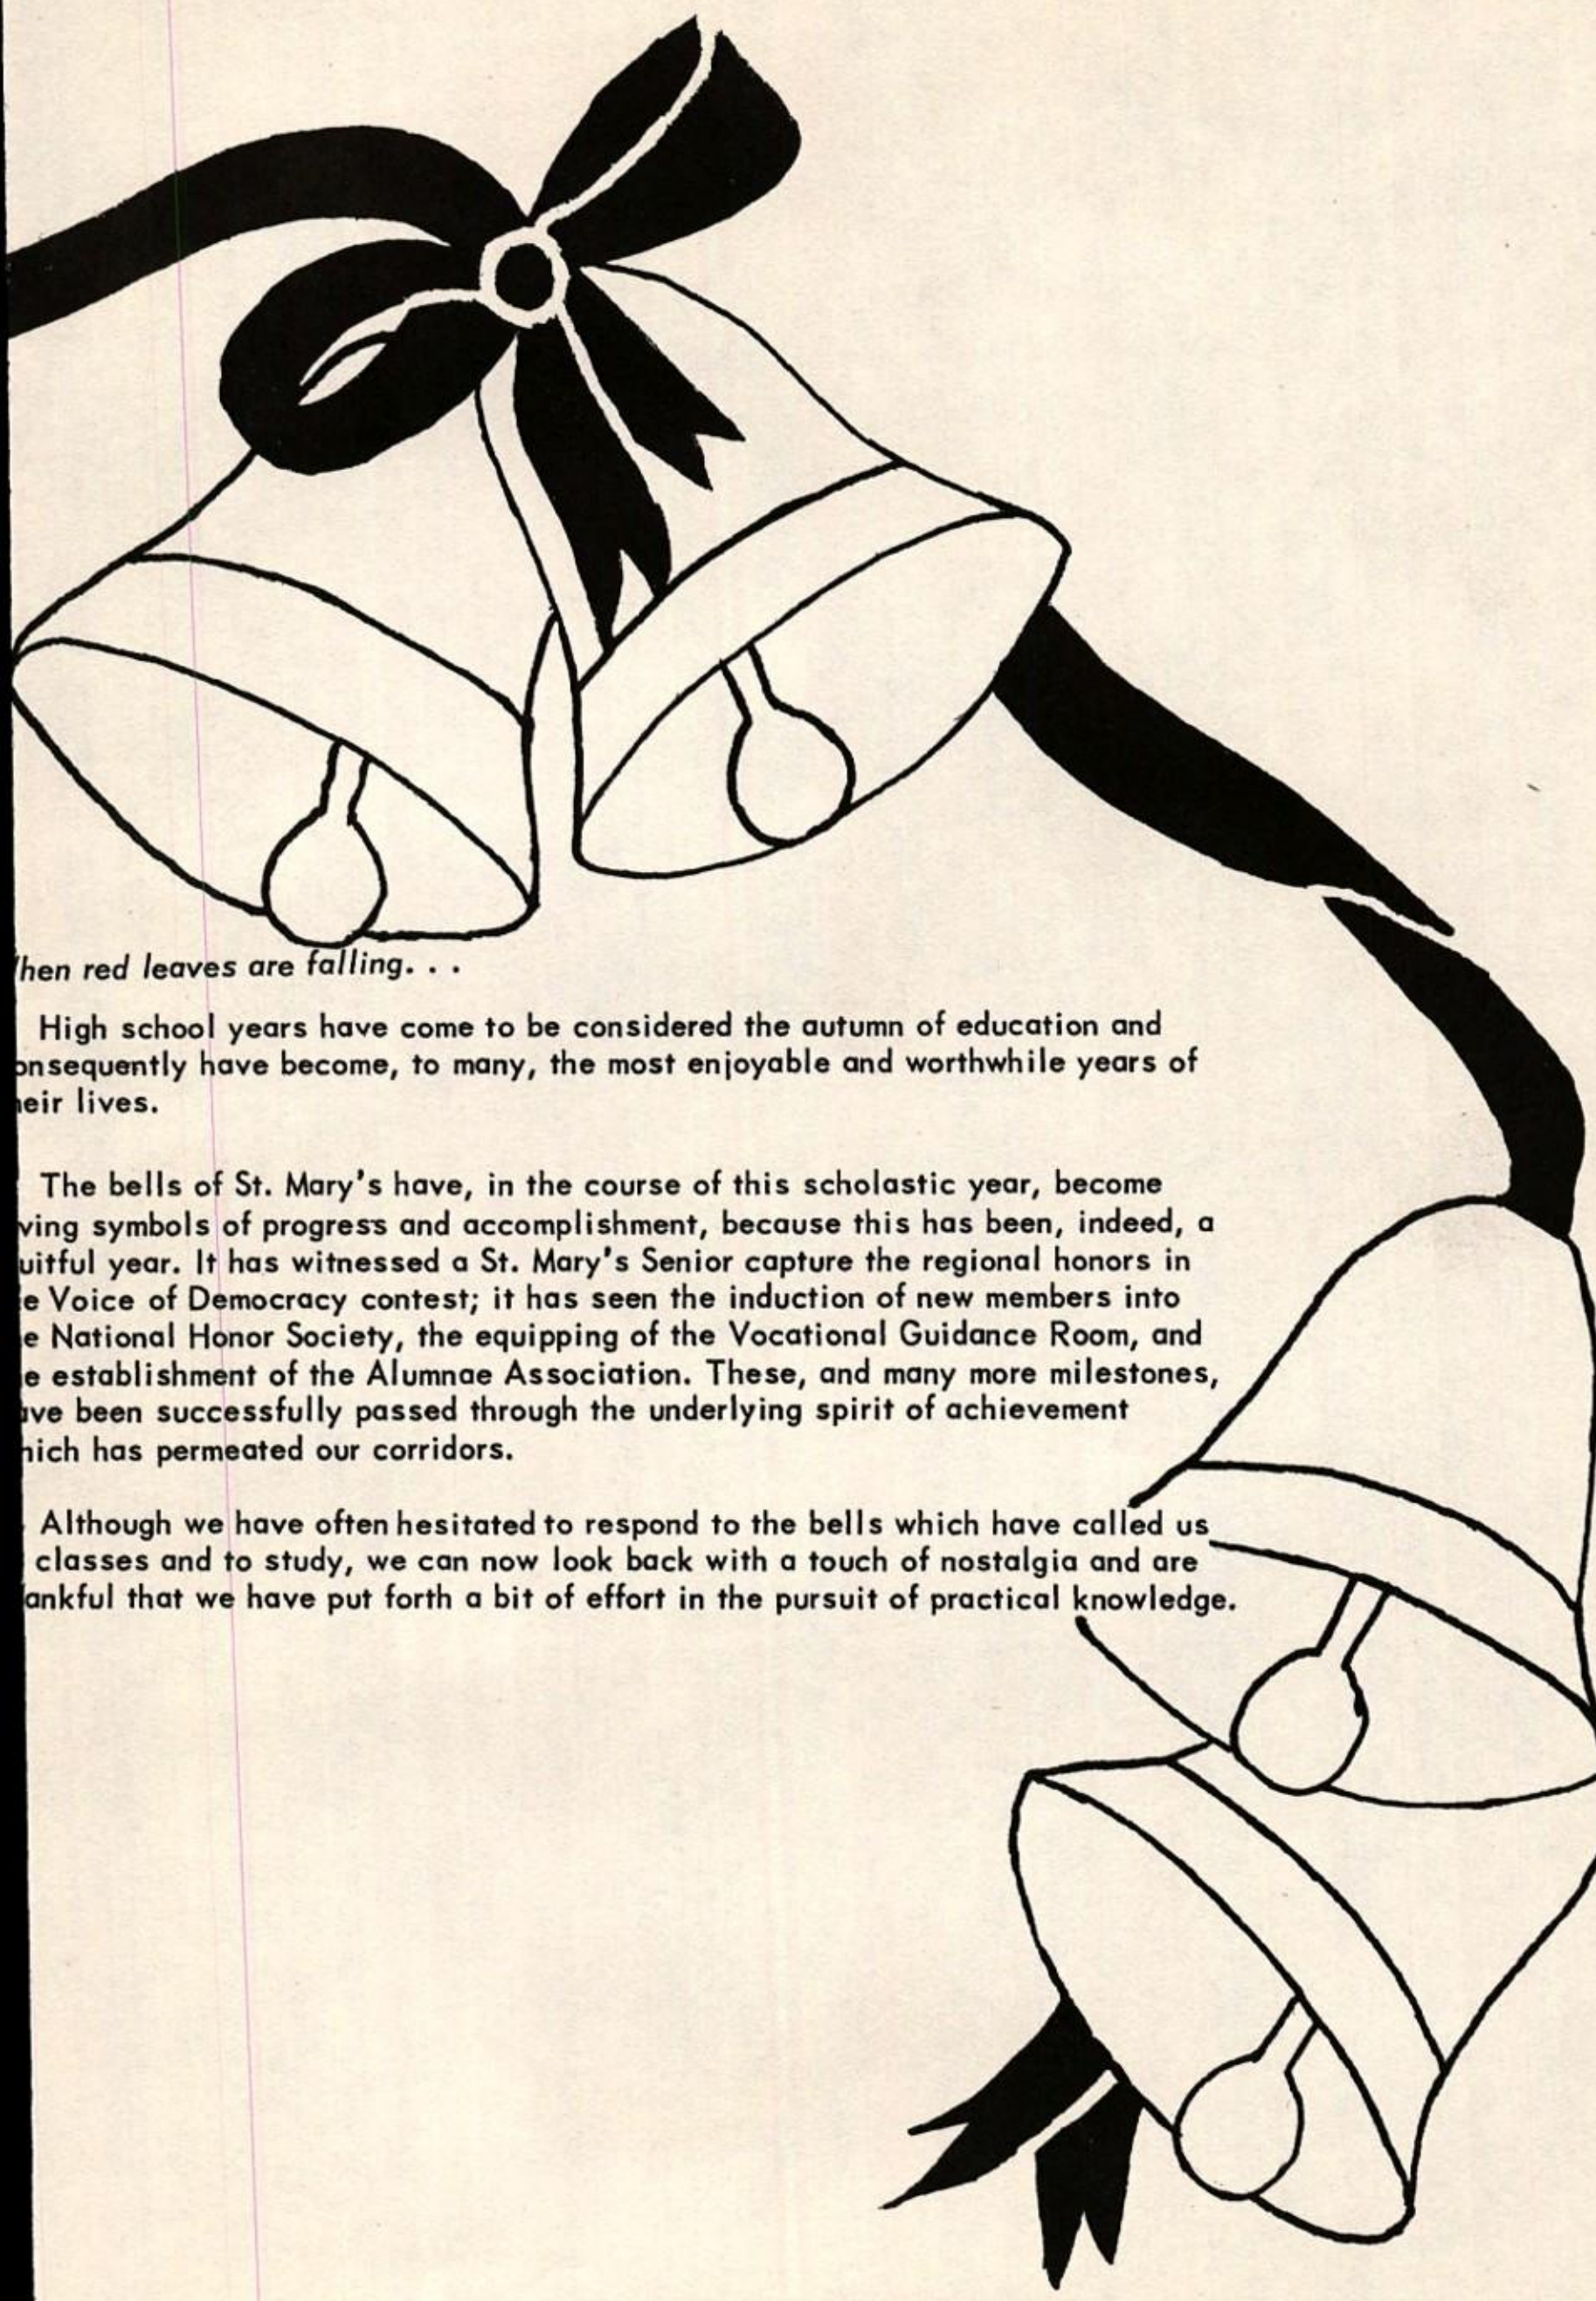
SCHOLASTIC

ACTIVITIES



hen red leaves are falling. . .

High school years have come to be considered the autumn of education and onsequently have become, to many, the most enjoyable and worthwhile years of eir lives.

The bells of St. Mary's have, in the course of this scholastic year, become ving symbols of progress and accomplishment, because this has been, indeed, a uitful year. It has witnessed a St. Mary's Senior capture the regional honors in e Voice of Democracy contest; it has seen the induction of new members into e National Honor Society, the equipping of the Vocational Guidance Room, and e establishment of the Alumnae Association. These, and many more milestones, ve been successfully passed through the underlying spirit of achievement hich has permeated our corridors.

Although we have often hesitated to respond to the bells which have called us classes and to study, we can now look back with a touch of nostalgia and are ankful that we have put forth a bit of effort in the pursuit of practical knowledge.

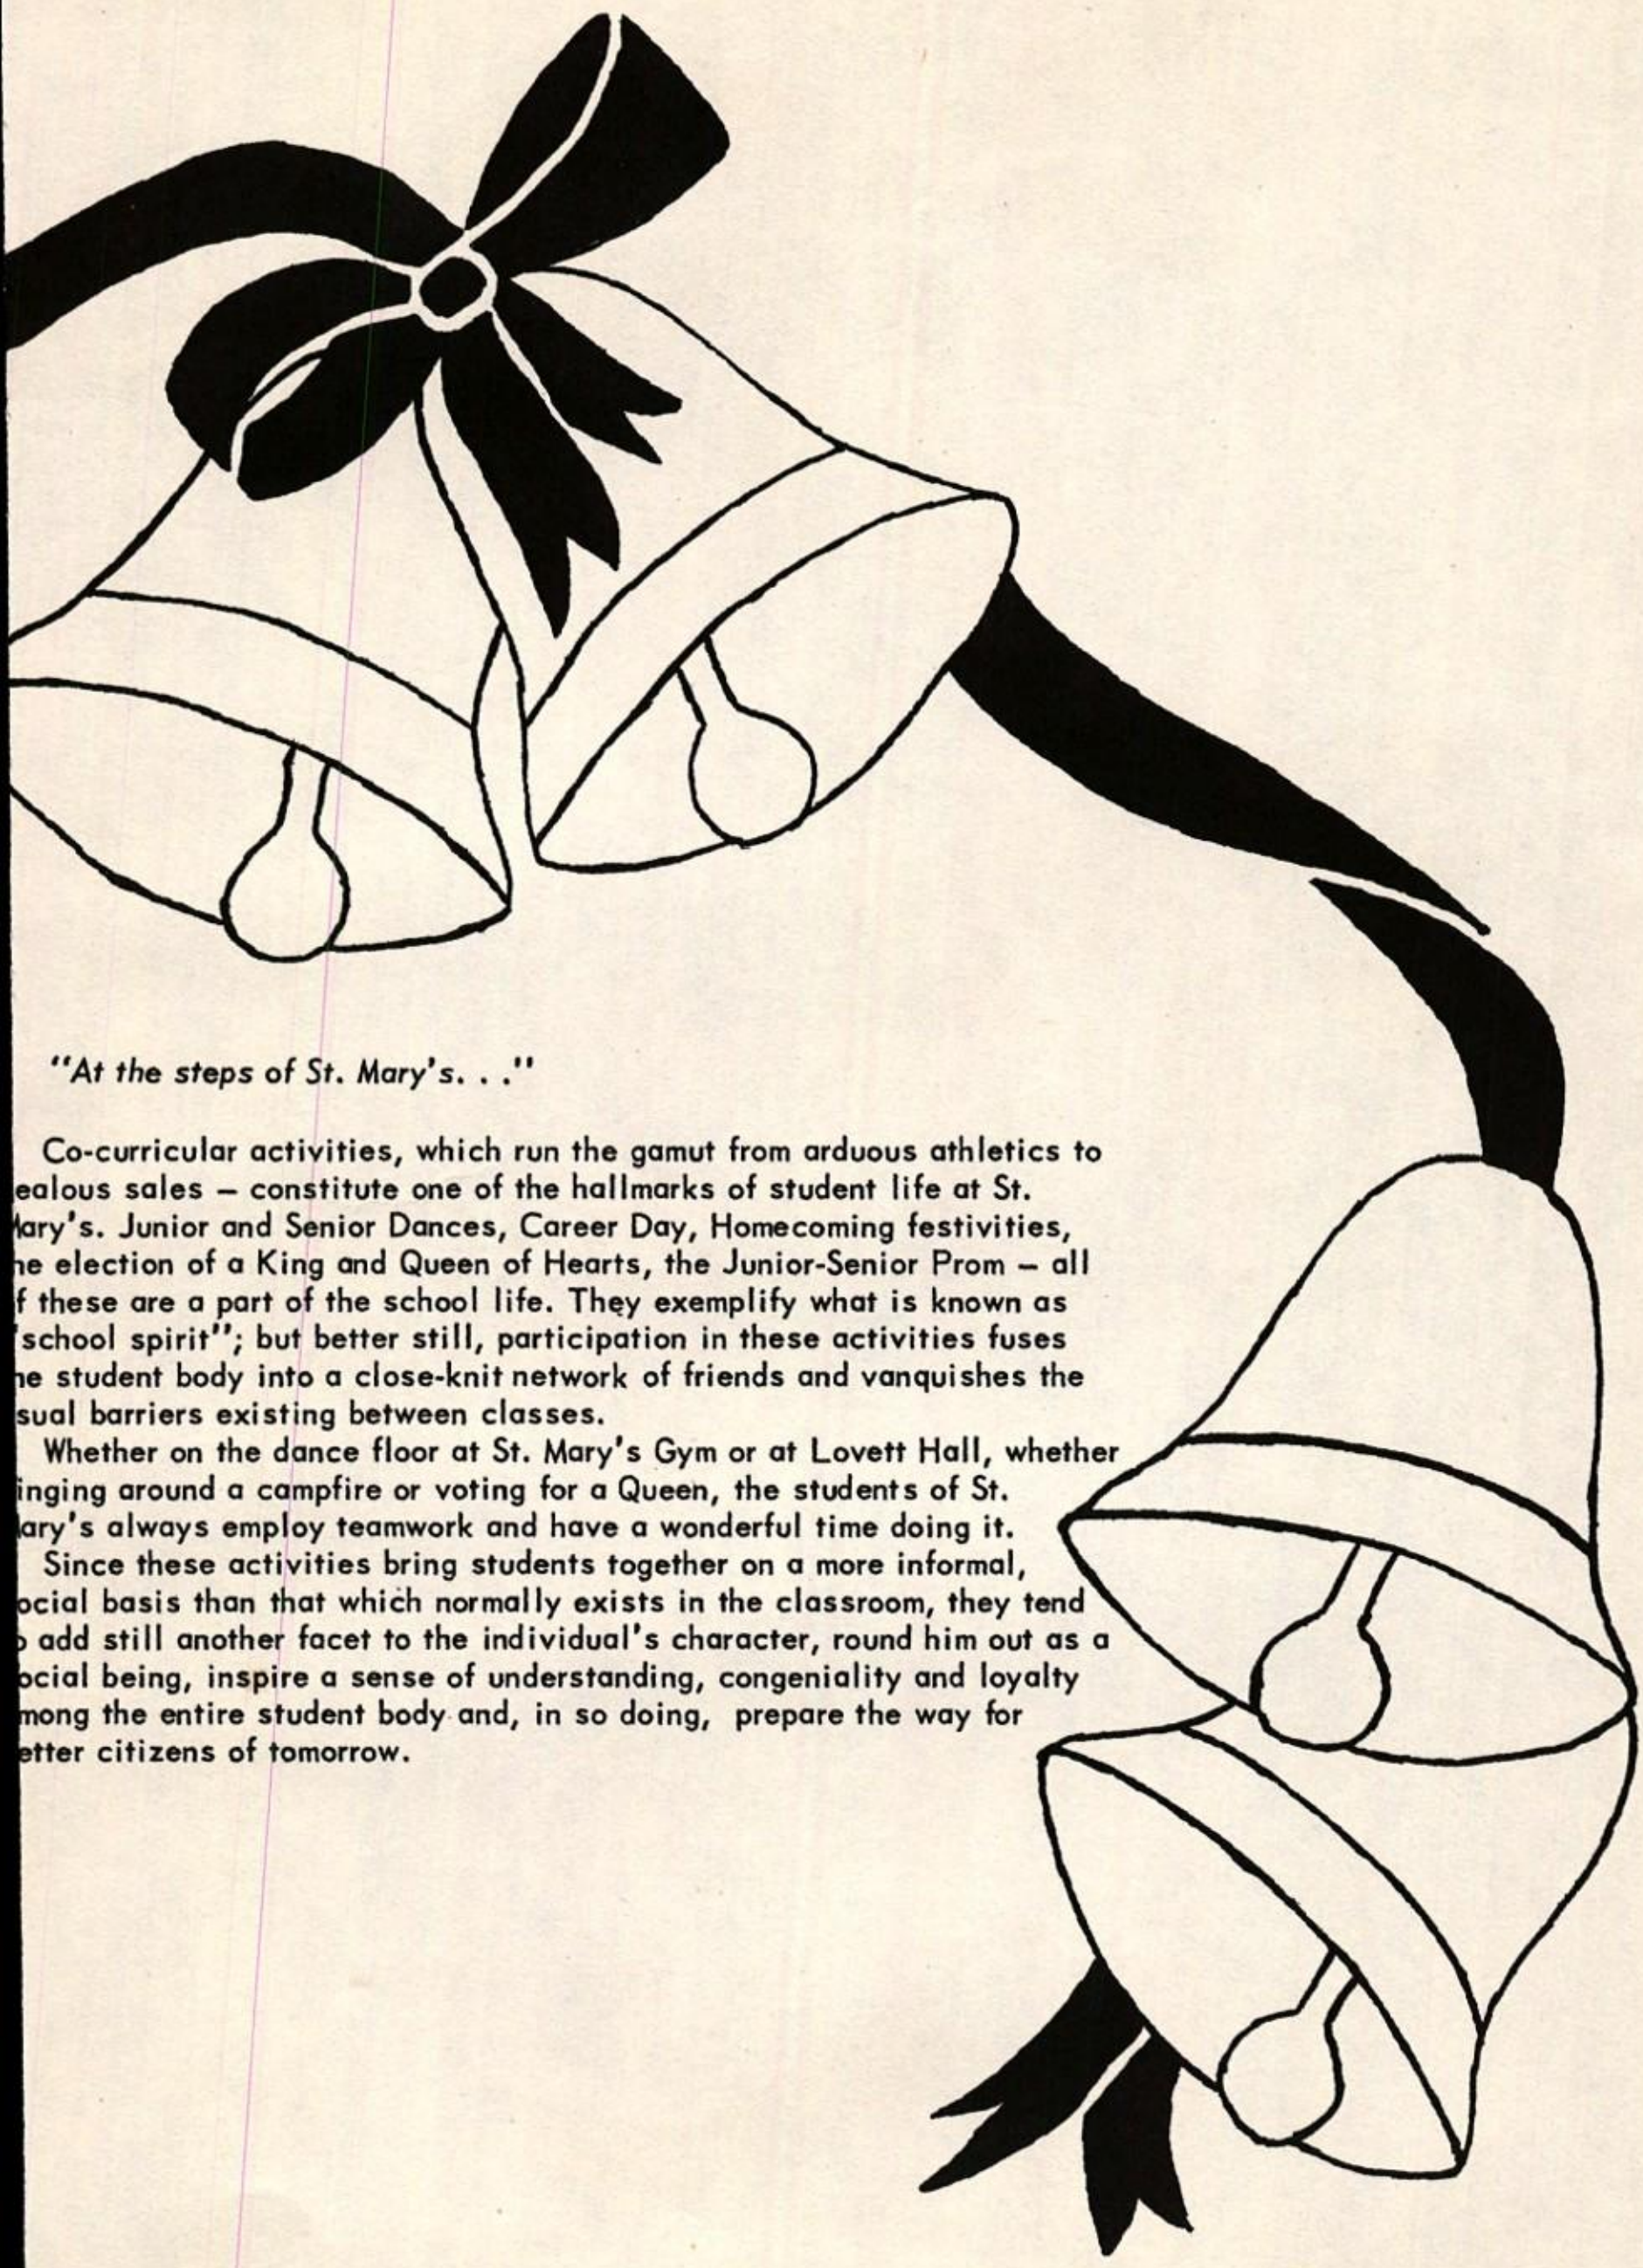
CO-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES



"At the steps of St. Mary's. . ."

Co-curricular activities, which run the gamut from arduous athletics to ealous sales – constitute one of the hallmarks of student life at St. lary's. Junior and Senior Dances, Career Day, Homecoming festivities, he election of a King and Queen of Hearts, the Junior-Senior Prom – all f these are a part of the school life. They exemplify what is known as 'school spirit"; but better still, participation in these activities fuses he student body into a close-knit network of friends and vanquishes the sual barriers existing between classes.

Whether on the dance floor at St. Mary's Gym or at Lovett Hall, whether inging around a campfire or voting for a Queen, the students of St. lary's always employ teamwork and have a wonderful time doing it.

Since these activities bring students together on a more informal, ocial basis than that which normally exists in the classroom, they tend o add still another facet to the individual's character, round him out as a ocial being, inspire a sense of understanding, congeniality and loyalty mong the entire student body and, in so doing, prepare the way for etter citizens of tomorrow.

The Queen's honor guards awaited her comina.

As the homecoming drew closer and closer, St. Mary's Seniors became more and more subdued, for uppermost in the minds and hearts of all was the thought that this was their last homecoming game. For this reason, the Class of '60 made an "all-out" effort to have it the best ever. To prove that it was the best, here are a few scenes captured from the homecoming festivities.

Queen Diane smiled graciously as Co-Captain Jim Day paid his respects to her.

Student Council officers Sandra Diehl, Thomas Burton, and Bruce Carrico talk over the advantages of a career in Engineering with Professor Snoblin of the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

"Would you like to be an operator?" might very well be the question which Mrs. Constance Aldrich of the Bell Telephone Co. has just asked of Sandy Vanderhagen, Betty Thome, and Emily Collins.

The Junior-Senior Prom

"One Enchanted Evening" Joe Zelenka, Connie Trimboli, Penny Belvitch, and Tom Morasky get together to converse and add another memento to their already star-studded book of prom memories.

The night had finally arrived, the night of the Junior-Senior Prom. Words cannot describe the stardust effectiveness that transformed upper classmen into elegantly dressed young men and women.

Chandeliers glowed and music played until the last "Goodnight Ladies," but memories will linger on forever in the hearts of St. Mary's Juniors and Seniors.

YEARBOOK STAFF

The members of the Yearbook Staff take this opportunity to express their appreciation to all who, through their generous efforts, have helped to make this first issue of the Crusader a success.

Sincere "thank-you's" are also extended to the members of the Faculty who have aided us in every conceivable way, to Mr. Albert Dohring of the E.J. Arthur studios for his excellent photography, to Mr. John Baker of the Midwest Company for his patience with our numerous errors, to our many advertisers, sponsors, and patrons who have furnished the funds that have made our book a reality. A special note thanks is due to Sister Francis Bernard, our yearbook advisor, who has given unstintingly of her time and talent, and without whose cheerful assistance this book could never have been possible.

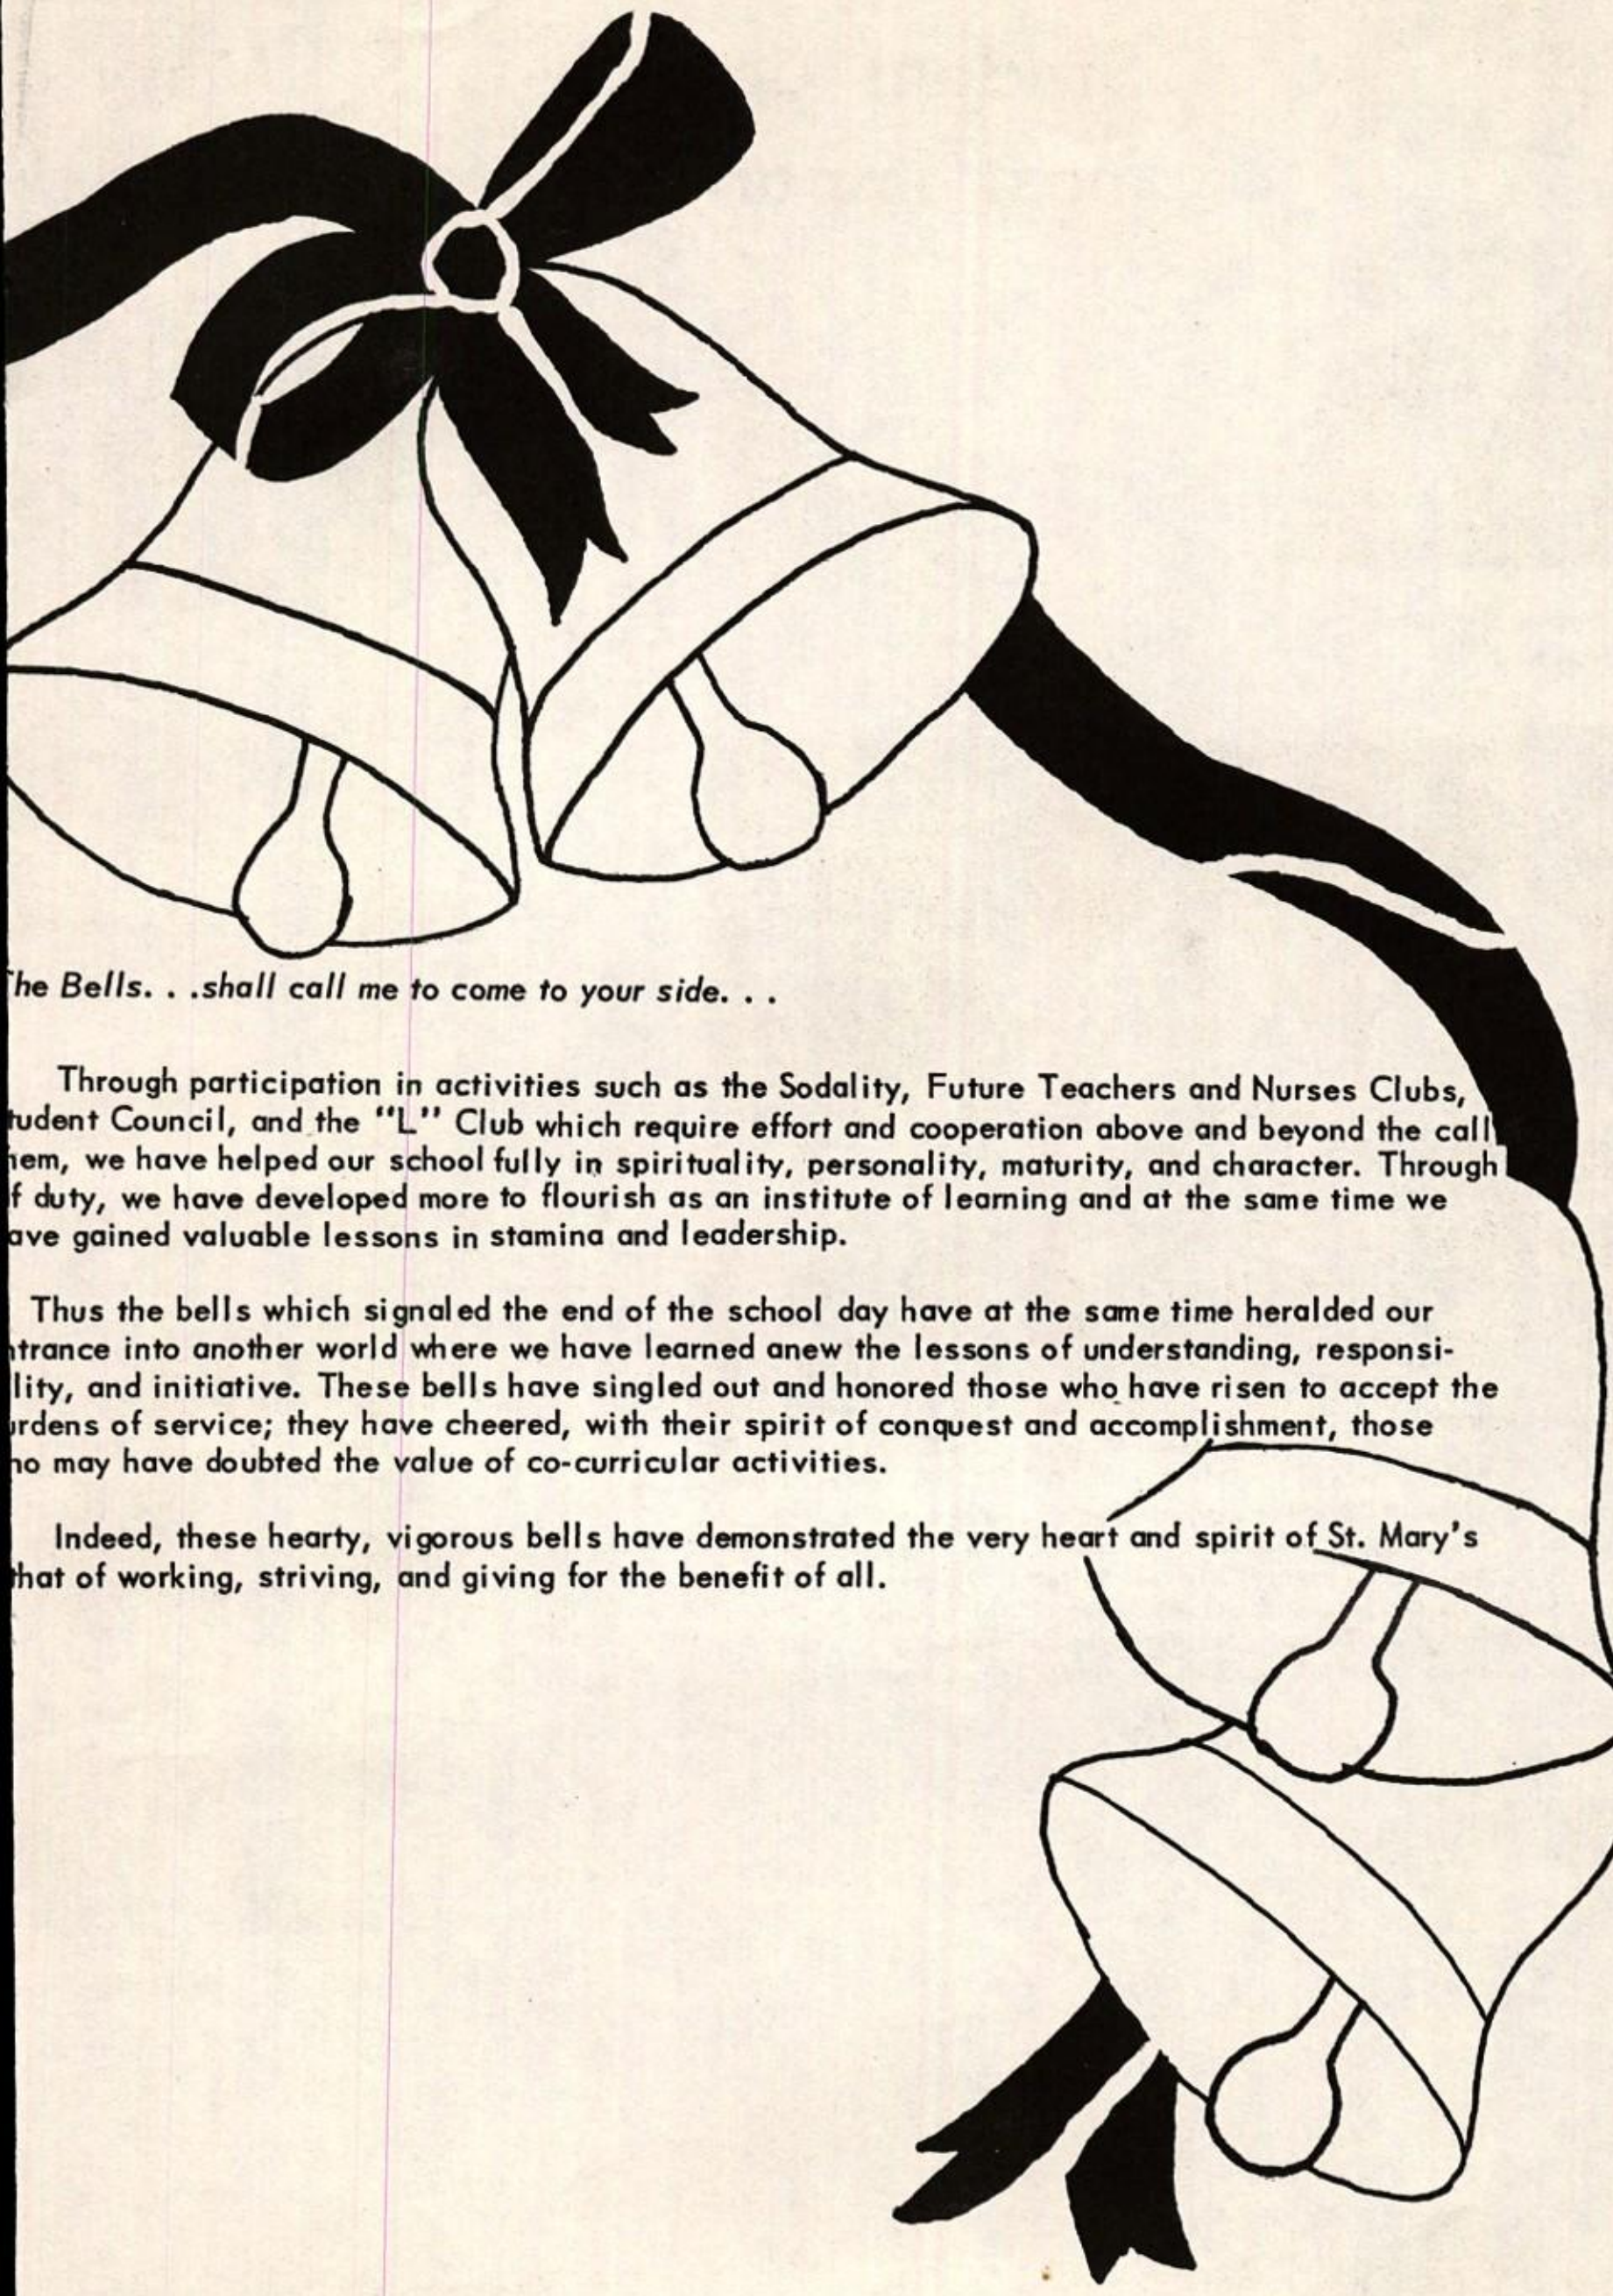
ORGANIZATIONS



The Bells. . .shall call me to come to your side. . .

Through participation in activities such as the Sodality, Future Teachers and Nurses Clubs, tudent Council, and the "L" Club which require effort and cooperation above and beyond the call hem, we have helped our school fully in spirituality, personality, maturity, and character. Through f duty, we have developed more to flourish as an institute of learning and at the same time we ave gained valuable lessons in stamina and leadership.

Thus the bells which signaled the end of the school day have at the same time heralded our ntrance into another world where we have learned anew the lessons of understanding, responsi- lity, and initiative. These bells have singled out and honored those who have risen to accept the rdens of service; they have cheered, with their spirit of conquest and accomplishment, those ho may have doubted the value of co-curricular activities.

Indeed, these hearty, vigorous bells have demonstrated the very heart and spirit of St. Mary's hat of working, striving, and giving for the benefit of all.

Student Council is St. Mary's most important organization.

National Honor Society

Mr. Dennis D'Arcy, in closing his address to the members of the Honor Society, said "that challenge to defeat Communism which confronts our modern generation can be met through the development of good moral character, militant leadership, service to one's fellow man, and a strong desire to learn."

Membership in the National Honor Society is a privilege enjoyed by only a comparatively small number of students. Qualifications include good moral character, high scholarship, strong leadership, and loyal and generous service to the school and fellow students. It is, indeed, an honor to be elected to membership in the society and all who have been so chosen deserve a vote of congratulations and best wishes from the entire student body.

Thomas Hill, president of the St. Mary Chapter, welcomes the guests, faculty, and student body on behalf of the Honor Society.

Newly inducted Junior, Gabrielle Lada, receives her pin, emblematic of her new honor, from William Lubaway.

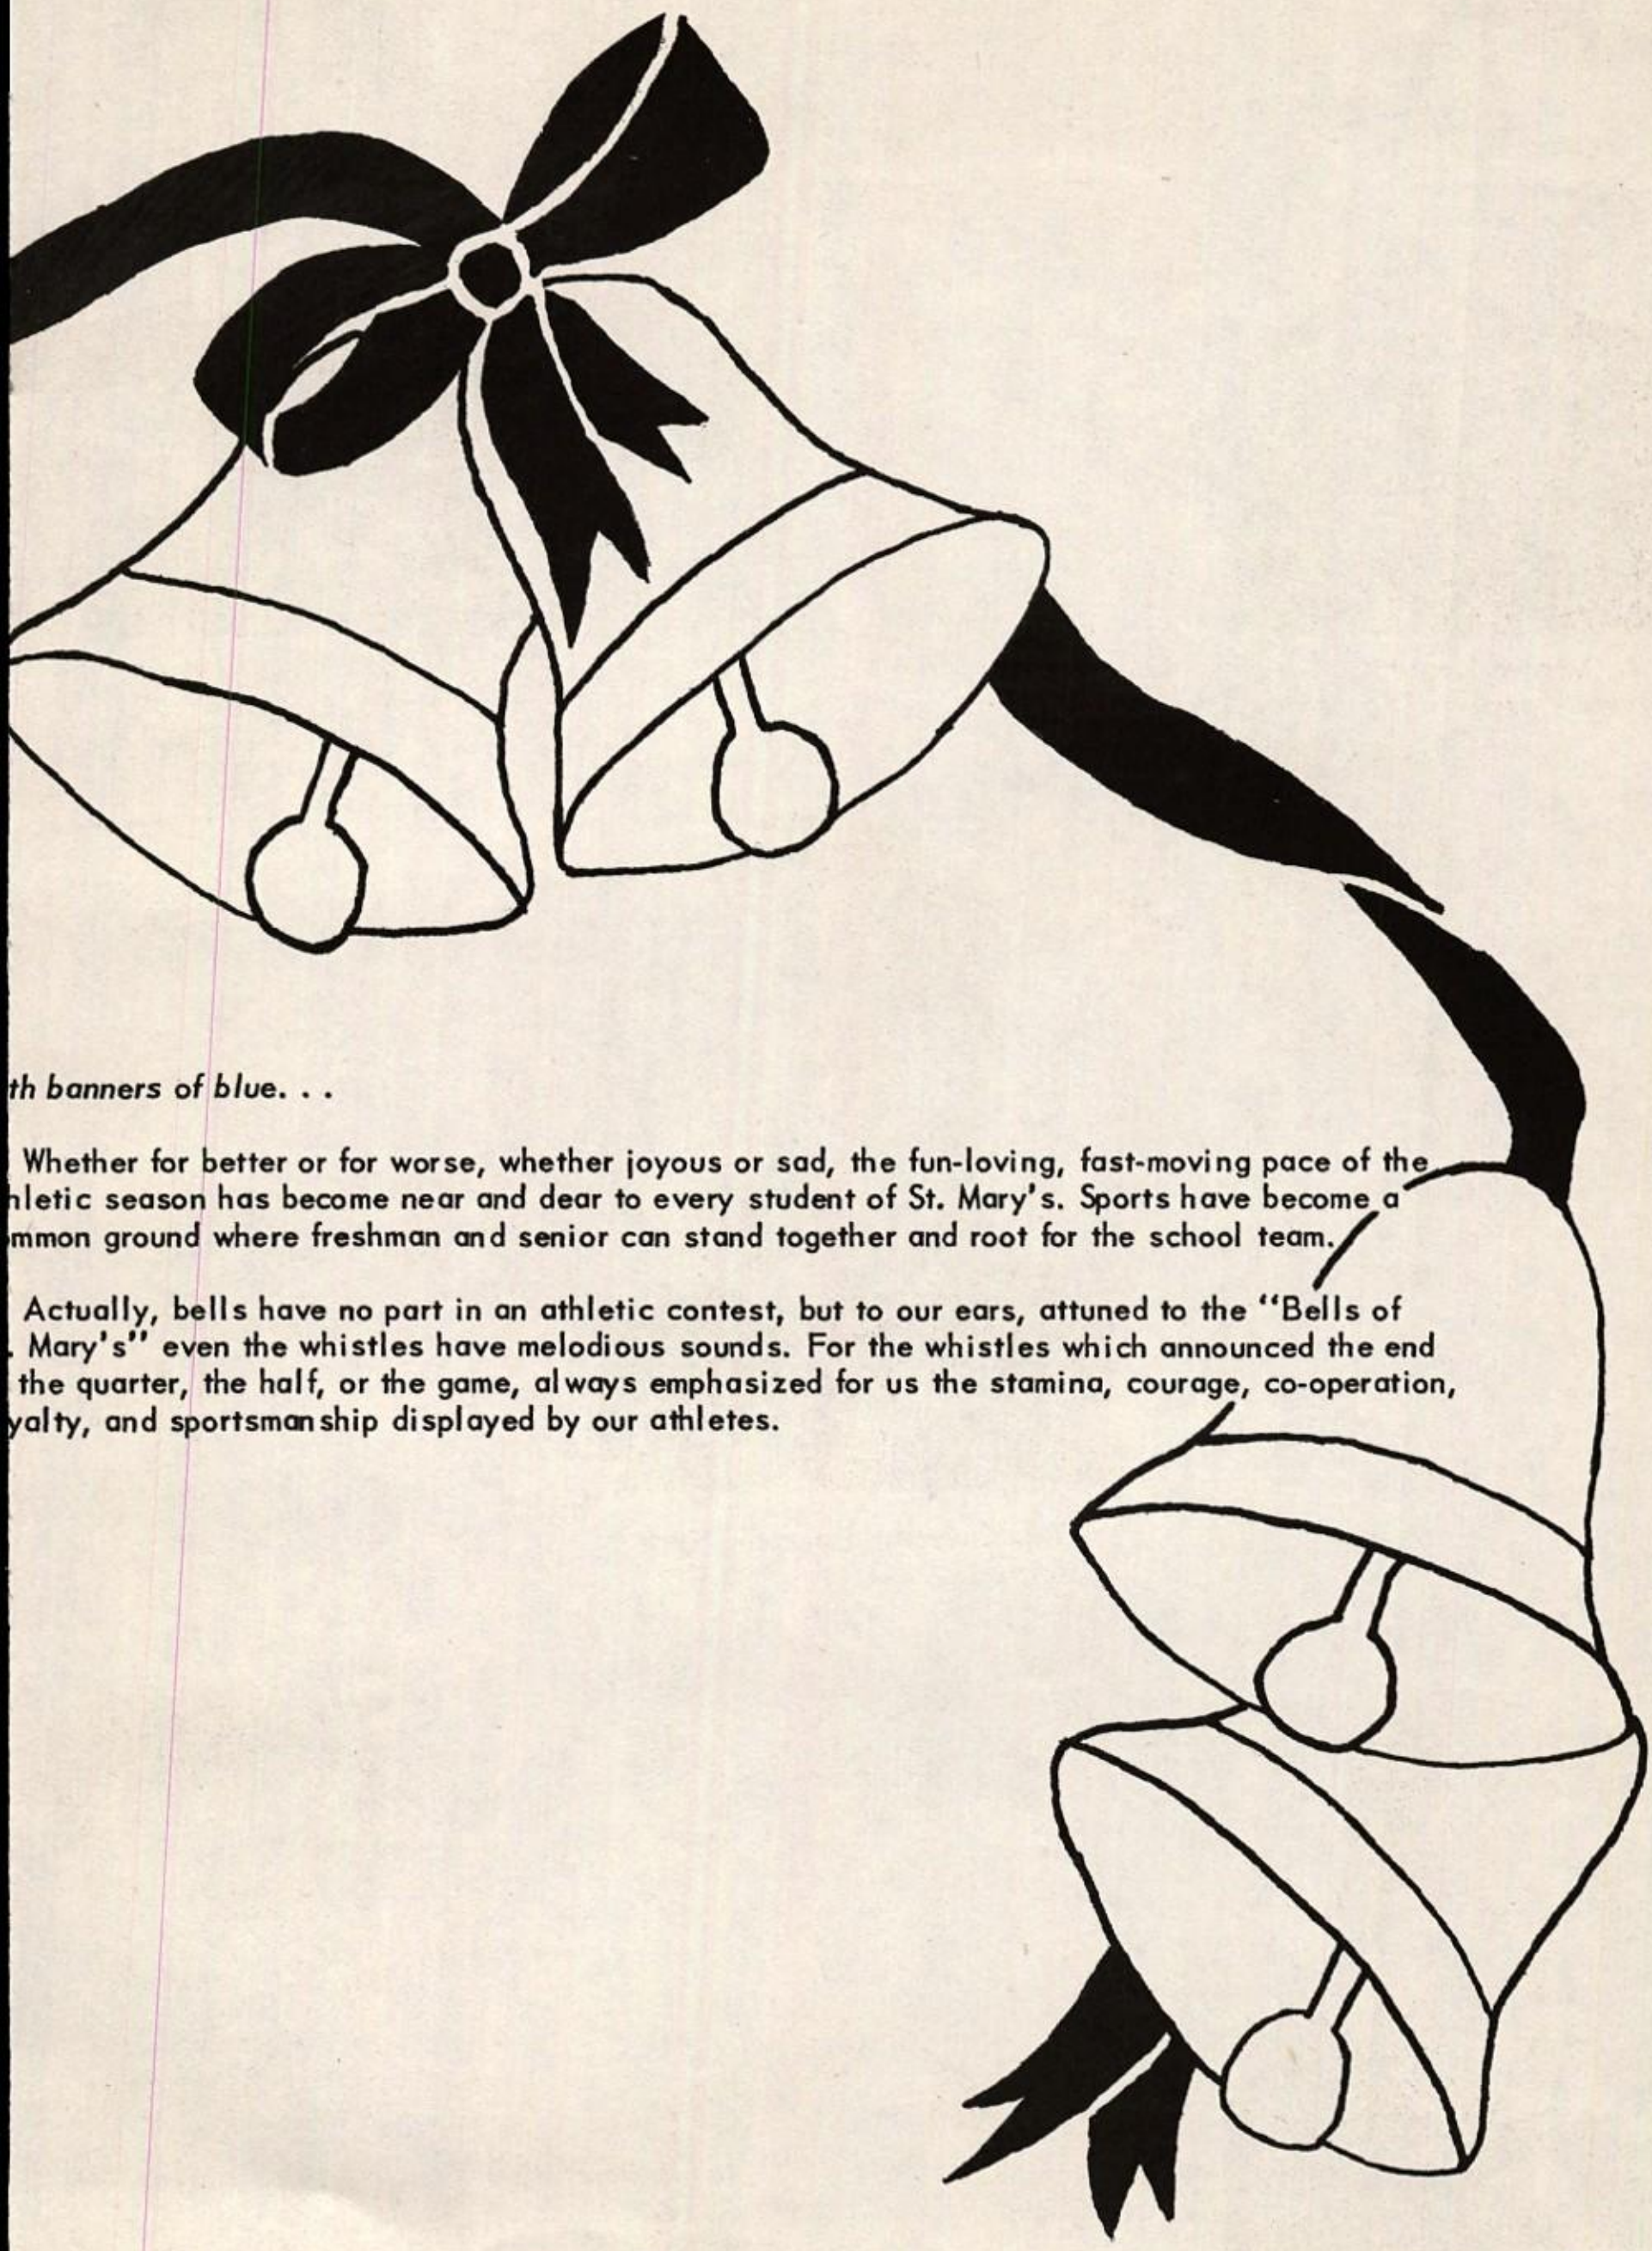
SPORTS



th banners of blue. . .

Whether for better or for worse, whether joyous or sad, the fun-loving, fast-moving pace of the hletic season has become near and dear to every student of St. Mary's. Sports have become a mmon ground where freshman and senior can stand together and root for the school team.

Actually, bells have no part in an athletic contest, but to our ears, attuned to the "Bells of . Mary's" even the whistles have melodious sounds. For the whistles which announced the end the quarter, the half, or the game, always emphasized for us the stamina, courage, co-operation, yalty, and sportsmanship displayed by our athletes.

LIVE HAPPILY EVER AFTER— ELECTRICALLY

Are you coming back for more education? Getting a job? Establishing a home? What's all this got to do with electricity? Just this: Whatever the future brings you, electricity will be there to help.

For right now we are entering a whole new era of electric living. The home you start will be easier to take care of, more fun to live in, with help from electric appliances. Complete electric home heating, practical and convenient, is growing every day. Your job will be smoother, too, with electrically operated equipment and an increasing array of electronic devices. Even your education benefits from continuing research in many fields related to electricity. One day, you personally may help to create new and better ways to do things electrically.

So no matter who you are, where you are or what you're doing, your future will continue to be brighter, your life will be lighter through electricity.

Provides Southeastern Michigan with versatile electric energy

"There's a girl I'd like to know"

"She has so much poise and confidence—I'll bet she works for the telephone company Those girls are so attractive and have such friendly, pleasant manners."

They're talking about Lucy, who started working for Michigan Bell right out of high school. She was trained by friendly, understanding supervisors and today she's proud of her work; enjoys a fine salary regular wage increases, and many new friends.

Lucy was delighted from the very first by the clean pleasant surroundings, by the regularly scheduled mid morning and midafternoon "breaks" for relaxing in comfortable lounge rooms, and by the opportunities for advancement.

Isn't that kind of job worth going after? The why not get in touch with us—perhaps there's telephone job for you. We'll be happy to talk with you about the interesting work at Michigan Bell.

To Jo,
I'm so glad that you and Laura are Edelrosie
such good friends during high school.
I can never forget all the nice things that you did for me and what a wonderful friend you were. I am so glad for you and Bob because you both such wonderful kids. I only hope that after graduation things won't change and we can still be the best of friends. The best of luck to you always, because you really deserve it, you're a wonderful girl.
